Red Leaders Plan Visit To England

Premier Bulganin And Khrushchev To Cruise 10 Days In Britain

LONDON, March 9 (AP)—Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev will sail up the River Thames April 18 in a Soviet cruiser to start 10 days of talks and tours throughout Britain.

The British Foreign Office pushed plans today for the visit of the junketing Russian rulers despite protests from many Britons—including a demand to "keep the Red beasts out"—and from thousands of refugees from Iron Curtain countries who now live in London.

The visit, the Foreign Office said, will last two days longer than was expected last July when, with the soothing spirit of Geneva in the air, Prime Minister Eden offered Britain's hospitality.

To Be Elaborate Affair

It will be an elaborate affair with even an advance agent. Georgi Malenkov, who preceded Bulganin as premier, will precede Bulganin and Khrushchev on their British tour.

Malenkov, demoted to the ministry of power stations 13 months ago, is due in London next Thursday to start a three-week tour of British electric and atomic power installations.

Khrushchev, former herdsman and pipefitter who now bosses the Communist party and serves on the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) has never been to Britain.

Bulganin looked over the London subway system in the 1930s as a guest of the Transport Commission.

The Communist leaders, political heirs of the Bolsheviks who eliminated Russian royalty, will visit Queen Elizabeth II at one of royalty's greatest showplaces, Windsor Castle. There was even talk the Russians might spend a night in the castle.

Besides the call on the Queen, the visit is expected to involve social, political, agricultural, and propaganda matters as well as visits to industrial sites.

Time Is Allotted

Ample time will be allotted for political discussions with British leaders. Such talks are the reason the Eden government gives for the visit of the Russian leaders.

A visit to the House of Commons also is planned.

Bulganin and Khrushchev are among the world's leading tourists. In the past year they have toured Yugoslavia, India, Burma, Afghanistan, nearly all the Iron Curtain satellites, and also Switzerland.

Ban On GI Foreign Court Trials Spurned

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee has rejected, 19-10, a proposal aimed at keeping American servicemen from being tried in foreign courts and imprisoned in foreign jails.

The group instead decided to assign to a subcommittee the job of restudying the controversial proposal, sponsored by Rep. Bow (R-Ohio).

The resolution would direct President Eisenhower to seek revision of the North Atlantic Treaty agreements on criminal jurisdiction over soldiers of one country stationed in another.

Parole Recommended For Girls In Kidnapping Hoax

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., March 9 (AP)—County Atty. Tom Crossan said tonight he will recommend parole for four Newton, Ia., high school girls sentenced to jail after they admitted their story of being kidnapped was a hoax.

The four—Judy Damman, 17; Lois Davis, 18; Janeane Fahney, 17; and Gloria Jensen, 18—pleaded guilty this morning to disturbing the peace and were sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Crossan said he would go before City Judge Walter McVey Jr. tomorrow morning with a recommendation the girls be paroled at 10 a.m. Sunday. One of the provisions would be that the quartet be back in Newton Monday morning in time for their high school classes.

Crossan said he and his associates felt "these young ladies by their thoughtless behavior did in fact create a serious disturbance, not only in the township where they were charged with creating a disturbance but in all southeast Kansas."

But, he added, "at no time did we feel that the conduct of these young ladies was the result of any deliberate viciousness or character deficiency."

The four girls, quiet after their hearing, ate jail fare, supplemented by food taken to them by relatives.

Dulles Arrives In India For Nehru Huddle

NEW DELHI, India, March 9 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles flew here today for talks with Prime Minister Nehru and declared Indian-U.S. differences are relatively minor.

Both Dulles and Nehru appeared eager to make a show of friendship after their countries' relations were put under new strain by Dulles' role this week at the SEATO Council meeting in rival Pakistan.

Nehru departed from custom to allow photographers inside the Prime Minister's residence to photograph the meeting.

The two met for nearly four hours soon after Dulles' arrival from Karachi. After dinner they went into another long huddle. What they talked about was not disclosed.

Nehru sent a dozen truckloads of police to the airport to check any anti-U.S. demonstrations by Communists, Socialists or others.

In addition to the police there were officers and plainclothesmen every few yards along the road into the city.

It was the kind of security usually given a visiting ruler.

Indians said Nehru's absence from the airport was no reflection on Dulles. The Prime Minister goes out only to meet heads of state.

Waiting at the airport were Nehru's chief foreign office aides, U.S. Embassy personnel and newsmen.

In brief remarks there, Dulles said that basically the United States and India "stand together on essential points."

Recall Ambassador

ATHENS, Greece, Saturday, March 10 (AP)—Foreign Minister Spyros Theotokis said early today Greece is recalling its ambassador to London because of Britain's detention of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the Greek-Cypriot community.

Britain Banishes Church Leader

Accuses Makarios Of Violence Against Troops On Cyprus Isle

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 9 (AP)—Britain banished Archbishop Makarios III today. It accused the head of the Greek Orthodox Church and the rebellious Greek community on Cyprus of being committed to violence to drive the British from this island colony and unite it with Greece.

M'Kay Candidate Opposing Morse In Oregon Fight

SALEM, Ore., March 9 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay came here today and filed as a candidate for the U.S. Senate, setting up a major November election test with Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat and sharp administration critic.

McKay said the National Republican Committee had asked him to do it. But "the superb example of resoluteness and courage" in President Eisenhower's decision to run again led him to decide, he said.

In 1953 McKay resigned as Oregon's governor to take the Cabinet post at President Eisenhower's request.

The President did not ask him to run for the Senate, McKay said today, although at the White House yesterday McKay told him he probably would.

But once McKay announced his candidacy, the President commended and endorsed him.

"As a member of the United States Senate," the President wrote, "you will add a great deal to the working strength we need and must have in order to carry out the objectives of this administration."

Morse has been a strong and frequent critic of many of the President's policies. He has sharply attacked McKay's policies on resources development.

McKay and Morse each virtually are certain to win their party nominations. The fall election thus shapes up as one in which the people will have clear-cut issues presented by leading advocates.

Morse said in Washington he welcomed McKay's candidacy. The campaign "will clearly draw the issues on the giveaway record made by this administration in the field of natural resources," he said.

Gold Conviction Upheld By Court

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals, dividing 4-4 today upheld the conviction of Ben Gold, long-time Communist, on charges of filing a false non-Communist oath.

Gold, for many years president of the International Union of Fur and Leather Workers, was convicted here by a federal court jury and sentenced May 3, 1954, to one-to-three years in prison by U.S. Dist. Judge Frank McLaughlin.

The appellate court, which heard the argument in the case Feb. 9, issued a brief formal order today saying the conviction was "affirmed by an equally divided court."

The case originally was argued before a three-judge panel of the appellate court in March 1955. Early this year, the court, on its own motion, ordered the case reargued before the full bench. A vacancy on the court made the tie vote possible.

Gold, an avowed Communist, in an affidavit filed Aug. 2, 1950, denied he was a Communist. He said publicly he had resigned from the party.

Youth Charged In Father's Death

EASTON, Md., March 9 (AP)—An 18-year-old apprentice carpenter, charged with the slaying of his father, was held in jail today while efforts were made to raise his $5,000 bail.

The bail was set today by Judge J. DeWeese Carter, who also appointed T. Hughlett Henry, Jr., as the youth's attorney.

Police found George Nelson Blades, 49, dead in his home late Wednesday night from shotgun wounds. His son, who graduated from Easton High School last year, was hysterically weeping in the kitchen.

Patrolman Harvey Smith said the youth told him that he shot his father when he found him arguing with his mother and shaking her.

Stassen Claims U.S. Embargoes Aid Missile Race

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said today that embargoes salvaged by this country at the 1954 Paris trade conference may help it win the race to develop an intercontinental guided missile ahead of the Russians.

Stassen urged investigating senators not to discount what he called the "net advantage" realized by the United States from the conference.

Before mentioning the guided missile, Stassen pictured this country as having been pressured by its allies into agreeing to the sale of machine tools and other goods to Russia in order to preserve the system of international trade controls.

This moved Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, to remark that "some of our allies are more interested in trade for profit than in preserving the peace."

Stassen took exception to McClellan's comment as "maligning our allies."

Both Stassen and Secretary of Commerce Weeks contended the trade agreement worked to the "net advantage of the United States" by preserving the system under which Western nations refuse jointly to sell certain strategic goods to Communist nations.

McClellan, who has been sharply critical of the 1954 agreement, refused to go along with this view. He said he still believes the agreement was "not a gain ... we lost."

Weeks testified that to the extent that the 1954 agreement kept controls alive "we did make some gain." The alternative, he said, was to have "none at all."

Stassen, who now is special assistant to President Eisenhower on disarmament problems, quarter-backed the U.S. negotiators at the Paris conference in August 1954. He said he was not the chief U.S. negotiator on the scene, as other government witnesses have described him, but played his role from long range.

He told the subcommittee of mounting pressure from Western allies who needed more export markets after the Korean War ended in 1953.

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, March 9 (AP)—Israel accused Egypt of planting a mine that blew up an army patrol car today in southern Gaza. Two Israeli soldiers were injured.

Auto Industry Layoffs Put Employment Down 314,000

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Rising layoffs in the auto industry contributed to a 314,000 drop in total employment in February, the Commerce and Labor departments reported today.

However, at 62,577,000, the number of jobholders was 2½ million above a year ago, while joblessness stood virtually unchanged from January at 2,914,000.

"Sizable layoffs" of auto workers, concentrated in the Detroit area, caused a decline of 85,000 in automotive employment from mid-January to mid-February, according to the joint report of Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Secretary of Commerce Weeks.

A Commerce Department report yesterday estimated the January decline of wage income in the auto industry at a rate of 500 million dollars a year.

On the seasonally adjusted basis used by the department, this would represent a wage loss of approximately 40 million dollars for the month.

Nixon Casts Tie-Breaking Senate Vote

Amendment Passed 46-45; Compromise Is Reached On Corn

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower scored another big farm bill victory tonight with a close 46-45 Senate vote to knock out 90 per cent price supports on wheat.

Administration forces needed the vote of Vice President Nixon to break a tie.

The vote first was announced as 46-45 in favor of an amendment to knock the high wheat price supports out of the general farm bill.

Error Is Discovered

But it was discovered shortly afterwards that a clerical error had been made on this tally.

Then, in an unusual move, the Senate ordered a recapitulation of its vote. The new tally showed the true result was 45-45.

This tie gave Nixon the right to cast his vote—the only Senate situation in which he can do so—and he cast it for the amendment and thus put it over by one vote.

Actually the Senate had passed on to another vote when the error in the wheat amendment roll call was discovered.

This new vote was on a maneuver by administration forces to clinch their earlier victory. This is done by moving to reconsider the earlier vote, and then to lay that motion on the table. The administration forces carried this 46-41.

Before taking up wheat, the Senate approved an amendment which would permit corn growers to plant 51 million acres this year and still qualify for the administration's soil bank program.

The figure was a compromise between the 43 million acres set by the Senate Agriculture Committee and 56 million proposed by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa).

There was a long wrangle over alleged "preferential" treatment for corn belt farmers before the Senate accepted the compromise on a voice vote and prepared to take up another of the 70-odd amendments offered to the omnibus farm bill.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) and others complained that corn growers had not been forced to accept the "limitations, controls, penalties and heartaches" imposed on producers of wheat, cotton and other basic crops.

Criticized Hickenlooper

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) criticized Hickenlooper's original corn amendment last night as a Republican maneuver for Midwestern votes. Today Humphrey helped to work out the compromise. But he told Russell:

"I'm sick. They are tearing apart our basic farm program by acting on a commodity-by-commodity basis."

The Eisenhower administration won a big victory yesterday when the Senate voted 54-41 against abandoning the flexible price support system. The chamber rejected a Democratic move to support cotton, corn and peanuts at 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a price level deemed fair to the farmer in relation to things he has to buy.

With one fight after another developing on the Senate floor, party leaders gave up hope of getting the farm bill passed this week. Plans for a Saturday session of the Senate were scrapped, and work on the legislation will be resumed Monday.

French Mob Sacks U. S. Consulate In Tunisia Outburst

TUNIS, Tunisia, March 9 (AP)—A mob of Frenchmen turned from a funeral and sacked the U.S. Consulate and Information Office here today.

Some of the anger was directed against French ex-Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

An American Embassy source in Paris said the anti-American outburst was caused by "an unfounded rumor that the United States is encouraging North African terrorists."

A member of the consulate staff and his wife and child were in the office when the mob surged in. They were not molested.

Two French language newspapers also were attacked. One French student was killed and several other persons were injured in battles with police. No American injuries were reported.

The U.S. Embassy source said the attack obviously "was due to ignorance of the situation."

"In so far as attacking America is concerned, it is due to an unfounded rumor that the United States is encouraging North African terrorists."

Other Embassy circles in Paris said it is well known that the United States is not giving encouragement to terrorists.

About 10,000 French residents of Tunis had turned out for the funeral of two Frenchmen killed by Tunisian terrorists.

The crowd was orderly at first. Then a group spotted French Resident General Roger Seydoux, a former consul in New York and Washington.

The crowd surged forward as Seydoux moved toward his automobile. Several tried to overturn it. Stones flew but none injured. Excitement grew. About 2,500 of the crowd moved on the French War Memorial in the European quarter. They sang the Marseillaise, then spotted the consulate and moved on it.

Georges Mailloux, a member of the consular staff and his wife and son were in the offices on the top floor of a European quarter building when about 100 Frenchmen stormed in.

The crowd then turned on the nearby U.S. Information Office and scattered papers and books.

As they marched the demonstrators voiced indignation against ex-Premier Pierre Mendes-France, who initiated the negotiations that brought semi-independence to Tunisia with Tunisians controlling the government. Most French here bitterly opposed the move.

Matsch Denies Saying "Yes"

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., March 9 (AP)—Dr. Franz Matsch, Austrian permanent representative to the U.N., denied today he had said "yes" to a reporter's query whether he thought eventual seating of Red China in the U.N. was inevitable.

He issued the denial to a correspondent after being criticized in the Austrian press because of news reports he had made such a statement here yesterday.

Six correspondents present on the occasion said they remembered hearing him answer "yes" to the question, put by a woman correspondent for the International News Service. A seventh said he did not know whether Matsch used the word "yes," but he talked as if he meant it.

Others of the perhaps 20 correspondents on hand yesterday could not be reached. Matsch met the group after presenting credentials to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Decision Put Off

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Government officials today put off until Monday any decision on further peace moves in the 145-day strike of 55,000 Westinghouse Electric Corp. employes.

The latest government plan collapsed yesterday when the striking International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) said it could not accept settlement terms proposed by a government panel and approved by the company.

Death Penalty Approved For Plane Sabotage

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Legislation to make it a federal offense to sabotage or attempt to sabotage an airplane, bus or truck engaged in interstate commerce was approved today by a House Judiciary subcommittee.

There is already a federal law as to sabotage of trains.

Maximum penalties for violations of the proposed law would be 20 years imprisonment and a fine of $20,000, but with a death sentence permissible if a fatality resulted.

The move for the legislation grew out of the deaths last November of 44 persons when an airliner blew up in Colorado. A young man was accused of putting a time bomb in his mother's suitcase, causing the explosion.

Judge Changes Execution Date

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—A judge who inadvertently set a Sunday for an execution today changed it to a Monday.

U.S. Dist. Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut remarked there is no legal reason why a person cannot be executed on Sunday, "but it isn't done."

So he changed from April 15 to April 16 the date for Russell E. Carter, 19-year-old Negro, to die in the electric chair.

Carter was convicted of drowning a 15-year-old Negro girl in a bathtub last May 31 after breaking into her home.

Britain Banishes Church Leader

Accuses Makarios Of Violence Against Troops On Cyprus Isle

NICOSIA, Cyprus, March 9 (AP)—Britain banished Archbishop Makarios III today. It accused the head of the Greek Orthodox Church and the rebellious Greek community on Cyprus of being committed to violence to drive the British from this island colony and unite it with Greece.

The prelate and three other leaders of enosis—the union-with-Greece movement—were rushed off to an undisclosed destination.

An announcement by the British governor, Sir John Harding, said the step was taken under emergency regulations "in the interest of promoting peace order and good government."

It declared the archbishop "now is so far committed to the use of violence for political ends that he either cannot or will not abandon it."

Apprehended At Airport Makarios was apprehended at the airport as he prepared to board a plane for Athens, where he was to confer with the Greek government. His companions were taken at their homes or on the street and hustled to the airport to join him. They then were placed aboard a Royal Air Force plane under guard.

The aircraft had departed and the Archbishop's palace had been surrounded and searched before the deportation was announced. In Greece, thousands of Athenians had flocked to the airport to welcome Makarios. Enosis always had had enthusiastic popular and official support in Greece. Its supporters have staged repeated and sometimes violent anti-British demonstrations. News of his deportation provoked a stormy procession of students through Athens' streets and riot squads were sent to guard the British Embassy. Greek political leaders called the British action "astounding . . . brutal action."

The British move seemed certain to set off new troubles in the tinder of Middle East nationalism and passion.

Rocked By Terrorism Cyprus, Britain's military bastion in the eastern Mediterranean, has been rocked for months by anti-British acts of terrorism and the repressive countermeasures of the armed forces.

Scores have been killed and hundreds wounded in bombing, sniping and sabotage. Only last night there were nine bombings at various points on the island. A policeman was killed and the wife of a British army corporal was among persons injured. Last Sunday a bomb wrecked a British military plane at Nicosia airport. Authorities said the saboteurs had intended the bomb to explode while the plane was aloft, carrying British service men and their families.

Because of implication in such violence, the governor's statement said, Makarios "now personally constitutes a major obstacle to a return to peaceful conditions and . . . his influence must therefore be removed from the island."

Gold, for many years president of the International Union of Fur and Leather Workers, was convicted here by a federal court jury and sentenced May 3, 1954, to one-to-three years in prison by U.S. Dist. Judge Frank McLaughlin.

McClellan, who has been sharply critical of the 1954 agreement, refused to go along with this view. He said he still believes the agreement was "not a gain . . . we lost."

Weeks testified that to the extent that the 1954 agreement kept controls alive "we did make some gain." The alternative, he said, was to have "none at all."

Stassen, who now is special assistant to President Eisenhower on disarmament problems, quarter-backed the U.S. negotiators at the Paris conference in August 1954. He said he was not the chief U.S. negotiator on the scene, as other government witnesses have described him, but played his role from long range.

He told the subcommittee of mounting pressure from Western allies who needed more export markets after the Korean War ended in 1953.

Auto Industry Layoffs Put Employment Down 314,000

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Rising layoffs in the auto industry contributed to a 314,000 drop in total employment in February, the Commerce and Labor departments reported today.

However, at 62,577,000, the number of jobholders was 2½ million above a year ago, while joblessness stood virtually unchanged from January at 2,914,000.

"Sizeable layoffs" of auto workers, concentrated in the Detroit area, caused a decline of 85,000 in automotive employment from mid-January to mid-February, according to the joint report of Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Secretary of Commerce Weeks.

A Commerce Department report yesterday estimated the January decline of wage income in the auto industry at a rate of 500 million dollars a year.

On the seasonally adjusted basis used by the department, this would represent a wage loss of approximately 40 million dollars for the month.

Nixon Casts Tie-Breaking Senate Vote

Amendment Passed 46-45; Compromise Is Reached On Corn

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—President Eisenhower scored another big farm bill victory tonight with a close 46-45 Senate vote to knock out a 90 per cent price supports on wheat.

Administration forces needed the vote of Vice President Nixon to break a tie.

The vote first was announced as 46-45 in favor of an amendment to knock the high wheat price supports out of the general farm bill.

Error Is Discovered

But it was discovered shortly afterwards that a clerical error had been made on this tally.

Then, in an unusual move, the Senate ordered a recapitulation of its vote. The new tally showed the true result was 45-45.

This tie gave Nixon the right to cast his vote—the only Senate situation in which he can do so—and he cast it for the amendment and thus put it over by one vote.

Actually the Senate had passed on to another vote when the error in the wheat amendment roll call was discovered.

This new vote was on a maneuver by administration forces to clinch their earlier victory. This is done by moving to reconsider the earlier vote, and then to lay that motion on the table. The administration forces carried this 46-41.

Before taking up wheat, the Senate approved an amendment which would permit corn growers to plant 51 million acres this year and still qualify for the administration's soil bank program.

The figure was a compromise between the 43 million acres set by the Senate Agriculture Committee and 56 million proposed by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa).

There was a long wrangle over alleged "preferential" treatment for corn belt farmers before the Senate accepted the compromise on a voice vote and prepared to take up another of the 70-odd amendments offered to the omnibus farm bill.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) and others complained that corn growers had not been forced to accept the "limitations, controls, penalties and heartaches" imposed on producers of wheat, cotton and other basic crops.

Criticized Hickenlooper

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) criticized Hickenlooper's original corn amendment last night as a Republican maneuver for Midwestern votes. Today Humphrey helped to work out the compromise. But he told Russell:

"I'm sick. They are tearing apart our basic farm program by acting on a commodity-by-commodity basis."

The Eisenhower administration won a big victory yesterday when the Senate voted 54-41 against abandoning the flexible price support system. The chamber rejected a Democratic move to support cotton, corn and peanuts at 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a price level deemed fair to the farmer in relation to things he has to buy.

With one fight after another developing on the Senate floor, party leaders gave up hope of getting the farm bill passed this week. Plans for a Saturday session of the Senate were scrapped, and work on the legislation will be resumed Monday.

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—A man who has really traveled fast has been presented with a ticket for speeding.

L.A. Col. John P. Stapp, made famous by his 632 m.p.h. ride on a rocket sled, was nipped doing 40 m. p. h. in a 25-mile zone.

He found a friend in Justice of the Peace Howard Becham when he answered the citation. The judge promptly dismissed the charge, issued a citation against a fictitious "Capt. Ray Darr," fined the "captain" $12.50 and costs, and paid the fine out of his own pocket.

Joint Chiefs Make Appraisal For Defenses

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said today the Joint Chiefs of Staff met in a secret session in Puerto Rico to make a "realistic appraisal" of national defense.

Returning from a one-day trip to Puerto Rico to take part in the meeting, Wilson was asked if the problems confronted by the chiefs included guided missiles and the question of which of the armed forces would use the new weapons.

"They are talking about all of those things," Wilson said. He added at another point that the meeting was for a "general review of all our long-range problems."

Wilson avoided specific answers to further questions about such things as the roles and missions of the armed forces and a long-standing controversy between the Army and Air Force over expanding Army aviation.

He was asked if as a result of the Puerto Rican meeting a statement would be prepared reporting conference results to the National Security Council headed by President Eisenhower.

"Oh, surely," he replied. "He said he thought 'much good will come from' the meeting which lasted a week and ended tonight at Ramey Air Force Base on the island."

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, will visit the Army's Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., where the Army and Navy are jointly pressing development of a 1,500-mile ballistic missile. He returns to Washington late Monday.

The chiefs of the Air Force and the Army, Gen. Nathan Twining and Maxwell D. Taylor, scheduled their return to Washington a little behind Wilson.

Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of Naval operations, will inspect fleet units at Guantanamo, Cuba, over the weekend and return here Tuesday.

The Marine Corps commandant, Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, planned to fly from Puerto Rico to nearby Vieques in the Virgin Islands to witness Marine Corps landing exercises.

NAACP Drops Harford Suit

BALTIMORE, March 9 (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) today withdrew its Federal Court suit aimed at breaking down segregation in Harford County schools.

A spokesman for the NAACP said it was withdrawing the suit against the Harford County Board of Education because of the board's plans to integrate classes in the fall.

The spokesman said the school board had informed the NAACP of its plans. The suit was filed last Nov. 26 as the first court action aimed at ending segregation in Maryland counties.

It was filed in behalf of 21 children who were attending segregated schools in the county and charged that they were being denied their constitutional rights as laid down in the 14th Amendment.

There are some 12,000 public school children in the county, about 12 per cent of them Negroes.

Baltimore City public schools have been integrated since September, 1954. The 23 counties in Maryland are in various stages of carrying out the Supreme Court's mandate. Some have made the changeover completely while others have not even started integration.

Transit Strike Ends With Dearth Of Bus Passengers

BALTIMORE, March 9 (AP)—The longest transit strike in the city's history ended today, but there was a dearth of passengers as buses and trolleys rolled for the first time in 40 days.

Officials of the State-seized Baltimore Transit Co. estimated the number of riders was only about 40 per cent of normal during the morning peak hours.

The lack of patronage was blamed on several factors—"car-pool" arrangements which were made during the strike on a weekly basis, the continuance through-out of several charter bus line runs which have been bringing suburbanites downtown during the emergency, and simply the need of a little time for Baltimoreans to re-adjust their riding habits.

They have been without transit service since more than 2,000 operators and maintenance men, members of the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, struck at midnight Jan. 29. There still has been no settlement of contract difficulties.

The strike ended after Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, using power granted him by the State Legislature, seized the Baltimore Transit Co. and ordered the employees back to work.

Negotiations under State supervision will resume Monday. They will continue for as long as 60 days and if a settlement isn't reached by then, differences will be submitted to binding arbitration.

The employees, meanwhile, will receive the $1.90 hourly wage they got under their old contract. The union has asked a one-year contract that hikes the wage by 20 cents. The company has offered 18 cents in a three-year agreement.

The first of 831 transit vehicles put into service during the morning peak began rolling at 3:30 a. m. However, even during the 7:30-9:30 period, street cars and buses—which normally would be packed to the doors—had plenty of seats available.

Transit riders had to pay 20 cents a trip, instead of the 18 cents they were used to paying before the strike. Joseph Allen, State emergency utility administrator, granted the increase yesterday for the duration of State seizure.

When a contract agreement is reached, the BTC will press its request for higher fares with the State Public Service Commission.

Resumption of service generally look place without incident. However, a manhole explosion caused delays on the busy No. 8 trolley line, the city's longest which stretches about 18 miles, connecting downtown Baltimore with Catonsville on the southwest and Towson on the north.

A hydraulic drill operated by workers in the manhole hit a transit power line. None of the workers was hurt, but trolley service was interrupted for 30 minutes along one stretch and about an hour and 20 minutes along another.

Boys' Indictment In Radio Scare Dismissed By Judge

BALTIMORE, March 9 (AP)—A federal judge today dismissed indictments against two 19-year-old college students accused of frightening residents of suburban Catonsville last summer with a radio broadcast which warned of a bomb in the high school.

Judge Roszel C. Thomsen released Stephen A. Komianos and William E. Hahn Jr. from two charges of operating a radio station without a station license or an operators license.

Komianos, a sophomore at Lehigh University, and Hahn, a sophomore at the University of Maryland, broadcast a message from their small 30-watt transmitter July 19 saying there was a bomb in the Catonsville High School and that police urged residents of the area to take cover.

The message was heard in the immediate area on Radio Station WFBR.

Judge Thomsen agreed to dismiss the indictment after U. S. Atty. George Cochran Doub told the court it was just an "adolescent prank" which lacked willfulness, criminal intent or unlawful motive.

Richard W. Kiefer, attorney for the college students, said his clients thought that WFBR would drown out the signal from their weak set. He said the youths thought they would produce only a squeal on the powerful radio station, that it was just an experiment and they did not intend to frighten anyone.

Judge Thomsen, in dismissing the indictment, said he did not altogether agree that no harm or injury had been done. He said a number of residents were subjected to fear which could be a form of injury.

Virginia Senate Approves $896 Million Budget

RICHMOND, March 9 (AP)—A plan to write state segregation policy around public school funds in the budget cropped up today as the Virginia Senate approved its amended version of the appropriations bill and the long - argued Moore Resolution met death in the Senate Rules Committee.

Gov. Stanley gave his blessing to the plan to prevent any locality from jumping the gun on school integration ahead of any over-all change in state policy.

"I think such an amendment would be a desirable feature in the budget bill," the governor told a press conference.

The proposal was offered to a closed meeting of the Senate Finance Committee by Sen. Landon Wyatt of Danville and Sen. Garland Gray of Sussex, both members of the committee, after they discussed it with Stanley.

No committee action was taken since the group already had sent the omnibus $896 million dollar appropriations bill to the floor under a pledge to resist any floor changes. The Senate went on to pass the bill as amended by its Finance Committee after beating off floor efforts to restore $350,000 for a nuclear reactor at the University of Virginia—a House approved item cut out by the Finance Committee.

The House promptly rejected Senate changes which slimmed the big money measure by about a quarter of a million dollars. A conference committee of three members of each house will meet tomorrow to try to make things acceptable to both sides.

It is at the meeting of the conferees that the segregation policy may be inserted into the budget, although there was difference of opinion among members whether such a policy matter, not originally in disputed amendments to the budget, could properly be written in. Others said, however, that while it wasn't customary there had been precedent for it and it probably could be done.

Stanley said he had no plans to make a specific request in that direction to the conferees, but added that he had told both Wyatt and Gray he was favorably disposed to the idea of their proposal.

As offered to the Senate Finance Committee, the plan would permit the governor to hold up payment of state school appropriations to any locality not operating its schools in accordance with state policy. That policy, up to now, is for segregated schools although the Moore Resolution that was killed would have had the Assembly state that such a policy would continue through the next school year at least.

But Neuberger argued a citizens commission would be better. He suggested its members be drawn from various walks of life and that its chairman be "a retired jurist of unquestioned nonpartisanship and ability."

Shortly before Neuberger spoke, the Senate agreed without debate to extend the life of a special four-man committee headed by Sen. George (D-Ga) until March 31.

This group was appointed to look into a $2,500 campaign contribution offered—and rejected by Sen. Case (R-SD) during Senate debate on the natural gas bill. The money was offered by John M. Neff, a Lexington, Neb., lawyer representing the Superior Oil Co. of California. Neff favored passage of the bill.

Judge Prescott made the allegation in a suit filed yesterday in Montgomery County Circuit Court today alleged that he himself had been victimized by two men now under indictment on charges of conspiracy to defraud the State Roads Commission.

The suit names as defendants George and Constan (Gus) Basiliko, Washington area real estate men, and Albert D. Miesler also of Washington.

Constas Basiliko and Max Ofenberg are now on trial in Circuit Court on charges that they conspired to jack up prices on land sold to Maryland for highway building.

George Basiliko has been indicted on a similar charge but his trial still is pending because he is fighting extradition from the District of Columbia.

Judge Prescott—who is not hearing the current trial—charges in his suit that the three defendants purchased a 24-acre tract from him at a "fraction" of its worth, knowing that the State Roads Commission wanted the land for a cloverleaf for the new Washington National Pike.

The tract is in the "Wheel of Fortune" subdivision, just south-west of Rockville.

Mr. and Mrs. Prescott ask that the land be returned to them for the $600 an acre price for which they sold it in January, 1953, plus interest, taxes and "any other rightful costs."

Virginia Senate Approves $896 Million Budget

RICHMOND, March 9 (AP)—A plan to write state segregation policy around public school funds in the budget cropped up today as the Virginia Senate approved its amended version of the appropriations bill and the long-argued Moore Resolution met death in the Senate Rules Committee.

Gov. Stanley gave his blessing to the plan to prevent any locality from jumping the gun on school integration ahead of any over-all change in state policy.

"I think such an amendment would be a desirable feature in the budget bill," the governor told a press conference.

The proposal was offered to a closed meeting of the Senate Finance Committee by Sen. Landon Wyatt of Danville and Sen. Garland Gray of Sussex, both members of the committee, after they discussed it with Stanley.

Senate Is Urged To Turn Probe To Nonpartisans

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore.) advised the Senate today to give up trying to "investigate itself" and turn the job over to a nonpartisan commission of citizens.

A special committee of four Democratic and four Republican senators was appointed Feb. 23 to make a broad investigation of campaign contributions, lobbying and any improper influences on senatorial voting.

But so far the committee has held only one meeting and is deadlocked over rules on how to conduct the inquiry.

"A special commission removed from the political arena," Neuberger told the Senate, "is needed to restore the confidence of the American people that they are, in fact, being told the full story about their process of government and politics."

"In all candor, people wonder how senators who were elected with substantial campaign funds raised by large, private contributions can inquire into other senators' campaign exchequers."

Sen. McNamara (D-Mich.) proposed last Tuesday that a fifth Democrat be appointed to the special committee to give it a Democratic majority and a better chance, he said, to get off the ground.

McNamara contended the $350,000 appropriated for the lobbying investigation might be "thrown away" if the inquiry is conducted by a group evenly divided between the two political parties.

But Neuberger argued a citizens commission would be better. He suggested its members be drawn from various walks of life and that its chairman be "a retired jurist of unquestioned nonpartisanship and ability."

Shortly before Neuberger spoke, the Senate agreed without debate to extend the life of a special four-man committee headed by Sen. George (D-Ga.) until March 31.

This group was appointed to look into a $2,500 campaign contribution offered—and rejected by Sen. Case (R-SD) during Senate debate on the natural gas bill. The money was offered by John M. Neff, a Lexington, Neb., lawyer representing the Superior Oil Co. of California. Neff favored passage of the bill.

Couple Celebrates Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Montgomery celebrated their 23d wedding anniversary at a buffet dinner and informal dance at their home, Brant Road, Cresaptown.

The former Miss Rose Ann Stowell, daughter of William Stowell, Mt. Savage, and the late Mrs. Rose Stowell, became the bride of Thomas Montgomery, son of Mrs. Beulah Montgomery, Westernport, and the late Thomas Montgomery, March 3, 1933. The wedding ceremony was solemnized in St. Peter's Church, Westernport, with Msgr. Phalen, now of Washington, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery are the parents of one child, Thomas Jr.

Mr. Montgomery, who has been employed by the Western Maryland Railway Company for the past 15 years, is a member of the Eagles, Cresaptown Volunteer Firemen, and of St. Ambrose Church, Cresaptown.

Mrs. Montgomery is a member of the Catholic Daughters of America, Piedmont; Sodality of St. Peter's Church, Westernport; Auxiliary of American Legion Post 52, Piedmont; Catholic Ladies Club, St. Ambrose Church, Cresaptown, and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Cresaptown Fire Company.

A green and silver color scheme was combined in the decorations with a green lace tablecloth and green streamers from the chandelier; white and silver napkins and silver doilies. A five-tiered wedding cake, baked by the hostess, centered the table. Mrs. Leon Simmons, Mrs. Joseph Steele and Mrs. Chauncey Friend assisted in serving.

The Western Maryland Trio played for dancing.

Others attending were Mrs. Rose Hinebaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Montgomery, Westernport; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Teter, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Benson, Ridgeley; Chauncey Friend and sons, Stephen and Kevin, Cumberland; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burns and daughter, Rebecca; and Leon Simmons, Cresaptown.

Mrs. F. S. Kerns, 528 Maryland Avenue, has returned home from Memorial Hospital.

Her fiancé, who is employed at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Mill Company at Luke, is a graduate of Central High School, Class of 1950. The wedding is planned for June.

Allegany-Garrett Auxiliary To Plan Bazar For April

Final plans for the annual bazar will be formulated and the convention will be discussed at the meeting of the executive committee of the Allegany-Garrett County Ladies Auxiliary of the Volunteer Firemen March 21.

Individual Essential In CD, Club Total

The success of home defense rests entirely with the individual. Major Richard Dickson told members of the Business and Professional Women's Club in speaking on the need for Civil Defense in the light of the world situation and against natural disaster. Major Dickson, of the Air Defense Command, is state coordinator for the GOC. He pointed out that organizational leaders can go only so far in planning.

Also participating in the program was Sgt. Francis Carbone of the U.S.A.F., who is GOC liaison and training officer for Western Maryland and Northern West Virginia. He showed a film entitled "Are You Prepared?" and pointed out what is being done in Maryland and in Allegany County in mass feeding, the medical service, the rescue service, the GOC and fire and police service.

The Business and Professional Women's Club has assumed service responsibility for organizing Civil Defense, registering volunteers for disaster. The club also is sponsoring an essay contest on "What Civil Defense Means to Me As a Resident of Allegany County."

The program was sponsored by the Education, Vocation and National Security committees. Mrs. Cora Perry and Mrs. Effie Parsons are chairmen, assisted by Miss Anna Nicht, Miss Theresa Nicht, Miss Anna Durst, Miss Nan Livingston, Miss Zana Allison, Miss Helene Knippenberg, Miss Mildred Twigg, Miss Edith Scharf, Miss Betsy Ross Rarkin and Miss Mary Hamilton.

Rev., Mrs. Judy To Mark 54th Wedding Anniversary

Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Judy will celebrate their 54th wedding anniversary at a family dinner tomorrow at their home, Cresaptown, but will not hold an open house, as their granddaughter, Miss Judy Johnson, who is here for the weekend, has to return to college during the afternoon.

The former Miss Bertha Robb, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Robb, Lewisburg, Pa., and later of Cass, W. Va., became the bride of William Andrew Judy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Allen Judy, Roncove, W. Va., March 12, 1902.

Because the hotel in Cass, owned and operated by the bride's father, was almost completely destroyed by fire the night before the wedding, the ceremony, which was to have been there, was performed in the Baker Hotel, Washington, with the late Rev. Wycliff officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Furbush, Portland, Me., were their attendants.

Rev. and Mrs. Judy are the parents of one daughter, Mrs. Ruth Johnson. They have two grandchildren, Judy and Martin Johnson Jr. The former is a student at Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., and is one of the nine members of the college choir chosen to sing at Annapolis, Iceland and Bermuda, under the sponsorship of the American Air Ways. The group will sing for the cadets at Annapolis next Saturday; in Iceland Palm Sunday, where Judy will be soloist; and in Bermuda or Easter, Martin Jr., is a student at Allegany High School.

At the time of their wedding Rev. Judy was a telegraph operator for the railroad. About five years later he entered the Theological seminary at Westminster. Upon graduation he was given a charge at Rawlings. From there he went to Midland. When his health failed Mr. Judy obtained employment at the Celanese Corporation of American, retiring in 1952 after about 26 years service. He fills pulpits calls and has been teacher of the Men's Bible Class of Cresaptown Methodist Church since 1924. Gardening is his hobby.

Mrs. Judy, who also is in good health, keeps busy with her housework, though baking is her hobby. She reports that her greatest thrill was winning a certificate and check last August, for her breads and rolls and being named a "prize-winning cook of leading cooks throughout the United States," by the Fleischmann Yeast Company. A member of the Golden Rule Class of Cresaptown Methodist Church, Mrs. Judy has served as its secretary and organizer for 15 years.

Both Rev. and Mrs. Judy are members of Cresaptown Methodist Church and are the oldest members of the church choir, of which their daughter has been director and organist for 25 years.

Alumnae To Hear Golladay

Plans for the annual entertainment of the graduates of Sacred Heart Hospital School of Nursing are to be discussed at the meeting of the Nurses Alumnae Association of the hospital March 14. The meeting will be held at the Bellevue Street Nurses' Home, beginning at 7:30. Mrs. Elizabeth Lovett will preside and reports are to be made.

Details concerning a refresher course for all graduate registered nurses will be announced. The course will be given at Sacred Heart Hospital after Easter.

Derr Golladay will be guest speaker. Recently returned from an expedition on a diamond project along the Guianese River in northern South America, he will discuss his trip and show slides of it. All graduate nurses are invited to attend the talk, which will be at 8 o'clock.

A social hour will conclude the evening.

Glee Club To Present Concert

Catholic Girls Central High School Glee Club will present its annual concert March 15. It will be given in Carroll Hall beginning at 8:15. A matinee is to be given at 1:30 so the elementary school children of Mt. Savage, Midland and Frostburg can attend.

The variety program is divided into five groups, a miscellaneous group, religious group, mixture of humorous and serious, a medley from "Oklahoma," and concluding with an Irish section. Sister Mary Josephine is director and Sally Maurey accompanist for the club composed of 85 voices.

Beginning with "It's a Grand Night for Singing," the first half of the program includes, "Allah's Holidate," "Rose Marie," "Nocturne," "Cribbribin," "The Best Things in Life Are Free," "Among My Souvenirs," "God of All Nature," "Tschakowsky," "Trees," "Ave Verum," Mozart: "Prayer To Our Lady," "I Heard a Forest Praying," and "Ave Maria."

Following the intermission will be "Sophomoric Philosophy," "Looking for the Lost Chord," "Where'er You Walk," "Music When Soft Voices Die," "The Happy Wanderer," "Where in the World," a medley from Oklahoma, taking in "Oklahoma," "O What a Beautiful Morning," "Surrey with the Fringe on Top," and "People Will Say We're in Love."

In the St. Patrick's Day special program are "Kerry Dance," "Londonderry Air," with Betty June Wade soloist; "Treland Must Be Heaven," Mary Louise Logsdon, soloist; "Irish Dance," with Mary Ann McConnell dancing; "Irish Washerwoman," by Frances Kay Rosenbaum; "My Wild Irish Rose," Mary Elizabeth Fields; "Peg O' My Heart," Susanna Knieriem; Irish Medley dance, Marcia Mowery; "She's the Daughter of Rosie O'Grady," by the Filletwins, Kathleen and Rosemary; "It's a Great Day for the Irish," "Bendemeer's Stream," an Irish Lullaby; and conclude with a medley of Irish songs.

The concert is open to the public.

Encampment Planned

District 3 Encampment will be held May 20 in Lonaconing, at which time officers will be elected and installed. Plans were formulated at the meeting earlier in the week at Henry Hart Post home. Mrs. Elizabeth Nave was named general chairman with Mrs. Helene Bujac in charge of prizes; and Mrs. Ruth Jane Watson, credentials. Alvin C. Neat Auxiliary will be hostess.

Mrs. Julia Riser, Hagerstown, presided. Donations of $17.55 was voted to the cerebral palsy fund; and $5 to the Cackle and Crow Club. It was reported a total of $375 has been given to the Baker VA Center. Another party at the center will be April 22 at 2 p. m.

TOP PLEDGE—William Resser, son of Mrs. A. W. Resser, 419 Louisiana Avenue, and the late Mr. Resser, has been initiated into Phi Delta Chi at the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy, Baltimore. Phi Delta Chi is the oldest pharmaceutical and chemistry fraternity in the world. A freshman, Mr. Resser is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, where he was active in the band and dramatics.

Exhibit Chairman Appointed

Mrs. Fay Stillwagon has been appointed chairman of the Fine Arts Needlework and Accessories department of the first Pre-Colonial Cumberland Exhibit being sponsored by the Cumberland Historical Society. The appointment was made by the executive committee, composed of Miss Ruth Clauson, Louis B. Young and Holmes Cessna.

The exhibit will be held in the Historical Society house, 216 Washington Street, April 10 to 15 from 1 until 9 p. m. daily. Mrs. Stillwagon's department will include needlework, quilts, coverlets, fans jewelry, costumes, dolls, toys, laces and tapestries. The public in the tri-state area is invited to display any article they can contribute. Full coverage is guaranteed by insurance as to the value the exhibitor names. The building will be guarded at night, and during the day the exhibit will be thoroughly staffed.

Anyone interested in entering articles for the exhibit may do so by bringing them to the Historical Society building on April 8 from 2 p. m. until work is completed. Mrs. Stillwagon states that her department will only receive articles on Sunday, whereas other departments will be received on Sunday and Monday prior to the exhibit. For added information phone PA 2-2766. Anyone who wishes to help with the exhibit may volunteer to do so.

Allen Stemple Receives DeMolay Of Year Award

The Majority Association entertained with its annual Ladies Night party last evening at the Ali Ghan Country Club, at which time Allen Stemple was presented the DeMolay Boy of the Year award.

Group Has Program On Shakespeare

It cannot be too strongly emphasized that testimony of his contemporaries, and documentary evidence brought to light by more than 200 years of patient research, establish beyond all doubt that William Shakespeare was the author of poems, sonnets and the great number of plays now attributed to him. Miss Dolores Chase, told the Literature Group of the Woman's Civic Club at its meeting Thursday at the public library. An English teacher at Fort Hill High School, Miss Chase spoke on "A Visitor to Shakespeare's Home Reports," and showed pictures she took while visiting Stratford-on-Avon.

Miss Chase pointed out that it is often said that we know practically nothing about Shakespeare, and in a sense it is true. We know little or nothing about his private life, tastes, daily habits or outward appearance, but should remember we have more evidence about him than about any other dramatist of that time. She stressed the fact that literary persons, even the greatest, are seldom spectacular. The man who leads a life of heroic action has neither the time nor usually, the desire, even if he has the ability, to express himself in writing. The work of a writer is always much greater than the man she said.

Nevertheless all great works of literary art reflect and reveal their authors, she said. We need no biography to tell us the personality and environment of Jane Austen differed from that of Charles Dickens, or that Alfred Tennyson's habits, thoughts and desires were not the same as those of William Shakespeare.

Concluding the evening dancing was to music by Pi Harvey's Quartet.

Dr. Warren Cook, William Hanks, Russell Robertson, Murray Allen and Troy Campbell were in charge of arrangements.

Committee Named

The Serving committee for the April meeting was appointed at the meeting of the YMCA Auxiliary. Mrs. A. H. Northcraft presided. The committee includes Mrs. L. E. Daugherty, Mrs. H. M. Shank, Mrs. Etta Wagner, Mrs. George Barnard, Mrs. John Ort, Mrs. Charles Ridgley, Mrs. Harry Anderson, Mrs. James Kubes, Mrs. Sylvester Schilling, Mrs. Etta Hovermale, Mrs. S. A. Gleichman, Mrs. Ethel Apsey, Mrs. John Marean, Mrs. Marshall Miller, Mrs. Ralph Gantt, Mrs. Joseph Reinhart, Mrs. Florence Skelley, Miss Grace Shelly, Mrs. Morris Fisher, Mrs. Mamie Aronholt, Mrs. Northcraft and Mrs. Bertha Ackerman.

It was decided to install new lockers in the boys' room. Mrs. John Nicklin conducted devotions and Mrs. John Zornig sang two selections with Mrs. Kenneth Beck at the piano. Mrs. Carl Amtower was admitted as a member. Guests were Mrs. Jesse Kave, Mrs. Harry Tyree and Mrs. Albert Tase. Ninety-five members attended.

The concert is open to the public.

Encampment Planned

District 3 Encampment will be held May 20 in Lonaconing, at which time officers will be elected and installed. Plans were formulated at the meeting earlier in the week at Henry Hart Post home. Mrs. Elizabeth Nave was named general chairman with Mrs. Helene Bujac in charge of prizes; and Mrs. Ruth Jane Watson, credentials. Alvin C. Neat Auxiliary will be hostess.

Mrs. Julia Riser, Hagerstown, presided. Donations of $17.55 was voted to the cerebral palsy fund; and $5 to the Cackle and Crow Club. It was reported a total of $375 has been given to the Baker VA Center. Another party at the center will be April 22 at 2 p. m.

TOP PLEDGE—William Resser, son of Mrs. A. W. Resser, 419 Louisiana Avenue, and the late Mr. Resser, has been initiated into Phi Delta Chi at the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy, Baltimore. Phi Delta Chi is the oldest pharmaceutical and chemistry fraternity in the world. A freshman, Mr. Resser is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, where he was active in the band and dramatics.

Exhibit Chairman Appointed

Mrs. Fay Stillwagon has been appointed chairman of the Fine Arts Needlework and Accessories department of the first Pre-Colonial Cumberland Exhibit being sponsored by the Cumberland Historical Society. The appointment was made by the executive committee, composed of Miss Ruth Clauson, Louis B. Young and Holmes Cessna.

The exhibit will be held in the Historical Society house, 216 Washington Street, April 10 to 15 from 1 until 9 p. m. daily.

Mrs. Stillwagon's department will include needlework, quilts, coverlets, fans jewelry, costumes, dolls toys, laces and tapestries. The public in the tri-state area is invited to display any article they can contribute. Full coverage is guaranteed by insurance as to the value the exhibit names. The building will be guarded at night, and during the day the exhibit will be thoroughly staffed.

Anyone interested in entering articles for the exhibit may do so by bringing them to the Historical Society building on April 8 from 2 p. m. until work is completed. Mrs. Stillwagon states that her department will only receive articles on Sunday, whereas other departments will be received on Sunday and Monday prior to the exhibit. For added information phone PA 2-2766. Anyone who wishes to help with the exhibit may volunteer to do so.

Group Has Program On Shakespeare

It cannot be too strongly emphasized that testimony of his contemporaries, and documentary evidence brought to light by more than 200 years of patient research, establish beyond all doubt that William Shakespeare was the author of poems, sonnets and the great number of plays now attributed to him. Miss Dolores Chase, told the Literature Group of the Woman's Civic Club at its meeting Thursday at the public library. An English teacher at Fort Hill High School, Miss Chase spoke on "A Visitor to Shakespeare's Home Reports," and showed pictures she took while visiting Stratford-on-Avon.

Miss Chase pointed out that it is often said that we know practically nothing about Shakespeare, and in a sense it is true. We know little of nothing about his private life, tastes, daily habits or outward appearance, but should remember we have more evidence about him than about any other dramatist of that time. She stressed the fact that literary persons, even the greatest, are seldom spectacular. The man who leads a life of heroic action has neither the time nor, usually, the desire, even if he has the ability, to express himself in writing. The work of a writer is always much greater than the man, she said.

Nevertheless all great works of literary art reflect and reveal their authors, she said. We need no biography to tell us the personality and environment of Jane Austen differed from that of Charles Dickens, or that Alfred Tennyson's habits, thoughts and desires were not the same as those of William Shakespeare. It was decided to install new lockers in the boys' room. Mrs. John Nicklin conducted devotions and Mrs. John Zornig sang two selections with Mrs. Kenneth Beck at the piano. Mrs. Carl Amtower was admitted as a member. Guests were Mrs. Jesse Kave, Mrs. Harry Tyree and Mrs. Albert Tase. Ninety-five members attended.

Inter-Community League Ready To Hit W.Va. Gas Rate Increase

John J. McCabe Says Data Being Prepared

KEYSER—Roy J. McCabe, chairman of the local drive for funds for the Inter-Community League, which has been preparing for an attack of citizens against the proposed gas service rate increase in West Virginia has expressed thanks for the assistance afforded the group. Donations will aid the Inter-Community League in appearing in Charleston at the time of the rate hearing, with attorneys and engineers to fight Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company's proposed rate increase.

Mother-Daughter Dinner Scheduled

PIEDMONT — A mother and daughter dinner will be held in the recreation room of Trinity Methodist Church Tuesday, March 13 in observance of Girl Scout Week in the Tri-Towns.

Forms were given to the Girl Scouts to be returned by the mothers and daughters indicating whether they will attend.

Badges will be presented and new girls invested during the program following the dinner.

Chairman McCabe said he wants the persons who donated money for this fight, to know how the money will be expended, and had this to say:

"First, all monies collected from the drive are turned over to the treasurer of the Inter-Community League.

"Secondly, the Inter-Community League of Central Eastern West Virginia, is a nonprofit organization within the area of West Virginia served by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company. The league was organized for the purpose of combating rate increases and has successfully done so in the past.

"Thirdly, at the initial hearings held August 24 and 25, 1955, before the Public Service Commission of West Virginia, the Inter-Community League, through its representatives, made the only appearance before the commission, protesting the proposed increase.

"Fourthly, the Inter-Community League has employed, as legal counsel, Attorneys Bonn Brown, Elkins, and A. Jerome Daily, Buckhannon, and have employed as engineering and rate consultant, Harold J. Snyder, Keyser. All three were present at the initial hearing and are preparing legal, engineering and accounting data to be presented to the commission as evidence against the proposed increase.

"The transcript of the hearing held last August 24, contained the following statement by the commission:

"There have been numerous letters of protest and, of course, the commission realizes that no customers would approve the gas rate increase, except in unusual circumstances, and that will be of course remembered by the commission. The letters of protest filed in this case are not evidence and will not be considered as such."

"That statement coming from the commission is plain enough to show the numerous signatures on protests, mean very little, unless there is evidence presented at the hearing that may be considered by the commission, McCabe pointed out. It is for that reason, legal and engineering presentations of facts must be shown in an appeal against the proposed rate increase he said.

Keyser PTA Hears Talk On Mental Health

Prof. John O. Maiden Is Guest Speaker

KEYSER—John O. Maiden, instructor of psychology at Potomac State College, was speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Keyser Parent Teacher Association at Keyser High School. Maiden spoke on, "Mental Health," both from the viewpoint of an adult and a child.

He explained that a person may be mentally ill from an organic reason and also from a functional reason. He said that only organic mental illness may be inherited and not all organic mental illness is inherited, thus changing the ideas of a few years ago on the subject.

He gave the qualities of a well-adjusted adult and child. He named the influences on the growth of a child mentioning the home and school as first and second in importance.

Maiden was introduced by William E. Michael, program chairman.

A brief business session was held. It was opened with the president, Mrs. Ross W. Prysock, reading several verses from the Bible. Mrs. Graham Pifer, membership chairman, gave her report on the membership drive. She announced that 345 persons had joined the PTA for this year.

S. T. McGee, superintendent of schools, thanked all parents for their cooperation in the recent bond levy. It was announced that the next PTA County Council meeting would be held in Fort Ashby on April 9.

A nominating committee was elected consisting of Paul Iverson, chairman; Mrs. Graham Pifer and Mrs. Gorman Mosser. Election of a vice-president, corresponding secretary, and treasurer will be held in April.

Miss Madelyn Knott's home room won the parent attendance award. Refreshments were served prior to the meeting. Mrs. Harland Riddler is hospitality chairman. She was assisted by Mesdames: Graham Pifer, Forest Cosner, Robert McBride, John Dropple, Donald Wolfe, Fred Corder, Charles Maine, and Gorman Mosser.

The meeting was closed with the reading of a poem by the president.

To Attend Church

MIDLAND—Members of Anchor Lodge No. 111 Knights of Pythias and Myrtle Temple No. 2 Pythian Sisters, will attend worship service at Grace Methodist Church this Sunday at 11 a. m. in a body. Rev. Louis L. Emerick will deliver the sermon.

Homemakers Install At Mt. Savage

MT. SAVAGE — The Mt. Savage Homemakers met recently at St. George's parish hall at which time Miss Mary Wise, county demonstration agent spoke on "The Eye Looks at Food."

Twenty-five members answered roll call by telling their favorite floor covering. Mrs. Frederick Miller reported on the hymn of the month. Mrs. Alfred Benna reported on the county meeting of the food and nutrition chairmen which took place in the county court house. She gave several points on the making of buns.

Mrs. Roy Deffenbaugh, out-going president, concluded unfinished business and then turned the installation of new officers over to Miss Wise. Mrs. Howard Huff was installed as president and Mrs. Thomas Adams, Sr., treasurer.

Mrs. Huff announced the following chairmen for the year: 4-H representative, Mrs. George Deffenbaugh; Short Course, Mrs. Wesley Sleeman; Radio, Mrs. Lloyd Wade; Publicity, Mrs. Louis Haus; Parliamentary, Mrs. Raymond Yutzy; Membership, Mrs. Albert Swauger; International Relations, Mrs. William Cunningham; Family Life, Mrs. Ralph Dickel; Fair and exhibits, Mrs. Roy Deffenbaugh; Civil Defense, Mrs. Henry Beaver; Citizenship, Mrs. Harry Long; Blue Cross, Mrs. Thomas Adams, Sr.; Recreation-Nature, Mrs. Richard Hotchkiss; Reading, Mrs. Raymond Yutzy; Music, Mrs. Frederick Miller.

Frostburg Man Is Sponsoring Refugee Family

FROSTBURG—A Frostburg resident, John S. Prichard of 44 West Main Street, is sponsoring a family of European refugees scheduled to arrive Monday in New York aboard the Navy transport Gen. Langfitt.

Coming to Allegany County are Erich Todleiski of Hagen/Westfalen Schabergstar, L. O., his wife, Helene, and their two sons, Hans-Jurgen, 7, and Hans-Dieter, 5. A cook by trade, Todleiski is of Polish-German descent.

The Todleiskis are among 21 refugees bound for homes in Maryland. In all, 1,220 are being brought to this country under the refugee Relief Act. Due to dock tomorrow, the ship was delayed by heavy seas.

Prichard, owner of Meadow Mountain Inn, today reported that he has waited "over a year" for the arrival of the family. The Lutheran Church was responsible for his sponsoring the Todleiskis, he added.

For security reasons, Prichard said, their native land was not revealed since the Todleiskis come from eastern Germany which is occupied by the Russians.

Todleiski will work at the inn and the family will reside in that section.

Jury To Report

OAKLAND — The charges to the Garrett County grand jury will be delivered Monday by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley in Circuit Court here.

State Rests Its Case In Roads Scandal Trial

ROCKVILLE, March 9 (AP) — The prosecution rested its case today in the Maryland roads conspiracy trial of two Washington real estate men.

The state presented 13 witnesses in five days of testimony. The last witness was William C. Strauss, assistant auditor of the National Bank of Washington.

Strauss testified that checks from the State Roads Commission, totaling nearly $48,000 and made out to Jerry Goldberg and Robert J. Rosenfeld, were deposited to the credit of Max Offenberger on November 30, 1954.

Offenberger and Constan Gus Basilko are defendants in the trial. Goldberg is a certified public accountant and a nephew by marriage of Offenberger.

The state dropped its charges against Goldberg and Rosenfeld at the beginning of the trial on Monday. They had been indicted along with Basilko and Offenberger and Ben Du Pre, fired Maryland Roads Commission right-of-way engineer.

Du Pre, who had vanished after his ouster, popped up yesterday and testified as a witness for the state. He told of reaping benefits of nearly $9,000 from the proceeds of land sold to the state for highway projects on which he worked.

Du Pre, who was promised immunity, testified freely.

He returned to the witness stand this morning and was cross-examined by defense attorneys for about 30 minutes.

He admitted he had lied under oath during testimony on his suspension hearing in Baltimore last summer.

Du Pre also testified he has been granted a state-wide immunity against prosecution for perjury. He said his testimony in the Baltimore hearing had been influenced by Basilko.

"I did not adhere to the truth (in Baltimore). I was influenced in my testimony by Gus Basilko. I was influenced by fright, confusion, I was lost," Du Pre said.

"I was lying," he said, because of fear that his future would be jeopardized by the loss of his job.

Du Pre said he never had been in trouble before, and he was "truly frightened and confused" at the Baltimore hearing.

Goldberg, an accountant for Offenberger, testified from ledger work sheets that Offenberger and Constan Gus Basilko each made profits of $33,874 on four land deals involving rights-of-way sold the State Roads Commission.

Goldberg said that, according to statements given him by Offenberger for preparation of financial reports, Offenberger had paid Basilko $13,976 in commissions on the transactions before the profits were calculated.

Goldberg and his brother in law, Robert J. Rosenfeld, testified that they had received no money from the Roads Commission for land placed in their name by Offenberger and sold to the commission.

The commission paid $48,000 for two tracts on the outskirts of Gaithersburg.

Francis D. Alexander, whose information played a key part in the ouster of Du Pre last summer, testified he saw Du Pre deliver a roll of maps to Basilko in Washington. He said he later was in a car with Basilko when he took the maps to a Washington firm to have photographic copies made.

Alexander's testimony linked Basilko and Offenberger in several transactions involving rights of way for the new National Pike.

He said Basilko described Offenberger as "a millionaire who was backing him."

Du Pre testified he had spent the period between Oct. 6 and Dec. 23 in Mexico.

While there, he testified, he realized he would have to tell the truth of his part in the alleged conspiracy.

"Isn't it true that the whole State of Maryland giving you a clean bill of health as a liar and perjurer influenced you (on your return)?" defense counsel Joseph B. Simpson Jr. asked.

Du Pre said at the time he returned he did not have complete assurances of state-wide immunity.

Cold, damp feet chill the entire body and often are responsible for a good part of the toll exacted from us by colds.

Stay On Your Feet

BY JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Winter weather plays hob with your feet . . . and the condition they are in has a big effect on you. Next to your heart, feet carry the greatest load of any part of your body.

Cold and damp feet often are responsible for a number of colds. Foot doctors recommend you take these two basic precautions. Wear well-fitting shoes and make sure that your feet get plenty of exercise. It is known that swaddling and overprotecting feet in over-shoes impedes circulation. Keep the feet dry, but don't suffocate them by wearing galoshes indoors, or on long trips in trains, autos, or heated buses. If you wear them for long periods, the rubber will hike foot temperatures . . . causing excessive perspiration, swelling, and skin sensitivity.

To keep on your feet, make sure that your shoes have leather top and bottom. Leather, being an animal hide and the closest thing to the human skin, retains its breathing pores.

the same as those of Robert Burns. No man can write a good book or play without revealing something of himself to the reader, and of all forms of writing, drama is often the most revealing, because it is talk and thought.

Shakespeare has been regarded as the greatest writer in the English tongue for the past 300 years, the speaker pointed out. His plays possess an enduring vitality, which quality in art is called universality. Shakespeare was not particularly original as a thinker, but is regarded the most universal of all, because he understood and sympathized more than other men. He saw the whole picture of humanity and recounted it so men of every kind, country, creed and generation could understand.

When we read Shakespeare's plays, though it is unknown to many, we are always meeting our own experiences. He continually reminds us of our experiences and expresses them for us. It is for this reason that so often consciously or unconsciously, we can find no words more apt than his to express ourselves in exultation or depression.

To reconstruct Shakespeare's life in its entirety presents many difficulties, the speaker said, because the materials consist of only such facts and legends as could be gathered in research by biographers nearly a century after his death.

There is very little known of his early days exactly when he left Stratford for London and became connected with the stage is a matter of pure conjecture.

The date of his birth is not known precisely, but probably preceded by only a few days his baptism April 26, 1564. Tradition is he was born on St. George's day, April 23, which also was the date of his death.

Miss Chase said there is no record of Shakespeare's attendance at school or college, nevertheless it may be regarded as certain that he was a pupil at Stratford grammar school when as a son of a town councilor, he would be entitled to free education. There is belief he left school at the age of 13. November 28, 1582 the marriage bond of "William Shakespeare and Ann Hathway" was entered in the Episcopal register of Worcester, but there is no record of the actual marriage to be found. The speaker pointed out that the purpose of bond was to save time and was not an unusual practice in the 16th century.

It allows air to pass through the shoes at both sole and upper, thus evaporating foot moisture. At the same time, it insulates your feet against cold. Besides walking comfort with leather shoes, your feet will get added benefit from a little nightly pampering.

First give them a pep bath . . . a half-cup of bicarbonate of soda mixed with warm water. Then, dip them in a cool rinse and dust with a foot powder. Follow up with some simple exercises. Take 50 steps around the bedroom on your toes. This loosens all the small bones, muscles, and ligaments. As a bunions-prevention measure, rotate the big toe by hand for a few minutes. End up by rubbing the soles briskly with dry towel.

Dallam has told the Washington Star that the stock was his wife's, not his. He said she handles her affairs independently of him and that the money for the Coastal stock purchase came from an inheritance.

"He expressed the opinion," the paper said, "her ownership of the stock did not represent any conflict of interest in his regulation of small loan companies under Maryland law."

The trust agreement, dated April 1, 1949, stated that Mrs. Dallam desired "such investment to be a matter of confidence" between her and the directors of Coastal. The stock was to be issued in the name of Bush but was to be held for her or her heirs or assigns.

According to other material presented in the hearing, the trust agreement was amended May 12, 1950, placing the shares in both the Dallams with right of survivorship.

The number of shares mentioned in this amendment was 1,744. Testimony was presented earlier in the hearing that the Dallam holdings in Coastal now number 2,080.

Loan Official Has Stock In Firm, SEC Told

WASHINGTON, March 9 (AP)—A Securities Exchange Commission (SEC) hearing has been told that John W. Dallam, Maryland's deputy administrator of loan laws, has an interest in a small loan firm under SEC investigation.

The firm is Coastal Finance Co. of Silver Spring, Md. The SEC is holding a hearing on charges Coastal violated commission regulations in a stock offering last August. The SEC accuses the company of making false and misleading statements about the issue.

The hearing is in recess until Monday because of the illness of Frank B. Bush, former Coastal president.

In earlier sessions, the hearing received a copy of a trust agreement between Bush and Dallam's wife, Virginia, stating that she had put up $16,459 for 1,090 shares of Class A common stock, 454 shares of 6 percent preferred stock and 54 shares of Class B common.

Bush's attorney, Daniel L. O'Connor, told the hearing in a statement that the stock held by Bush as trustee was actually held for Virginia A. Dallam and John B. Dallam as joint tenants with right of survivorship.

Dallam has told the Washington Star that the stock was his wife's, not his. He said she handles her affairs independently of him and that the money for the Coastal stock purchase came from an inheritance.

DEATHS AND FUNERAL NOTICES

MRS. FLOYD BREESE

Mrs. Clara B. Breese, 59, wife of Floyd Breese, Ellerslie, died yesterday afternoon in Memorial Hospital, where she was admitted Thursday. She had been in failing health for a year.

She was born May 4, 1896, in St. Leo, W. Va., a daughter of the late William L. and Lavenia (Delaney) Camp.

Surviving, besides her husband, are six daughters, Mrs. Norman Simpson, city; Mrs. Joseph Calvert, Claysville, Pa.; Mrs. Clifton Lowery, Bedford, Pa.; Mrs. Charles Griffith, city, and Mrs. Thomas Blubaugh and Mrs. Daniel Ryan, both of Route 3, city, and one son, Gerald W. Breese, at home.

Also surviving are three brothers, Charles Camp, Washington, Pa.; Harry, Burgettstown, Pa., and Lonnie Camp, Claysville; three sisters, Mrs. George Yoders, Washington, Pa.; Mrs. Ella Bart-rug, Burton, W. Va., and Mrs. Frank Hemelrick, Dunn Station, Pa., and 11 grandchildren.

Mrs. Breese was a member of West Union, Pa., Presbyterian Church and the Navy Mothers Club here.

The body is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Simpson, 236 North Mechanic Street.

MRS. STANLEY B. STEMPE

WESTERNPORT — Mrs. Sophia A. Stempe, 68, wife of Stanley B. Stempe, 227 Greene Street, died Thursday in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where she had been a patient a month.

Born in Poland, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Breski, she had been a resident of this country since 14 years of age and of the Tri-Towns area for 26 years. Mrs. Stempe was a member of St. Peter's Catholic Church.

Surviving, besides her husband, are three sons, Charles P. Stempe, Cumberland; Frank E. Stempe, Westernport; and Leo J. Stempe, Baltimore; four daughters, Mrs. James McPartland, Lonaconing, and Mrs. Charles S. Miller, Mrs. Arthur Simon and Mrs. Donald P. Wagner, all of Frederick; two brothers, Alex Breski, Beryl, W. Va., and Andrew Breski, a patient in Perry Point Veterans Hospital, and four grandchildren.

The body is at the Boal Funeral Home. A requiem mass will be celebrated Monday at 9:30 a. m. at St. Peter's Church and interment will be in the parish cemetery.

ARCH C. DAVIS

ELKINS — Arch C. Davis, 82, died Tuesday at his home in Harding.

Born in Garrett County, Md., a son of the late James and Elizabeth (Harvey) Davis, he was the last surviving member of that family. He had resided in Randolph County 55 years. Mr. Davis had owned and operated the Harding Coal Company 15 years and been superintendent of the West Virginia Coal and Coke Company 30 years.

Services and interment took place here Thursday.

MRS. MERTON A. McRAE

Mrs. Edna Marie McRae, wife of Merton A. McRae, 57 Greene Street, died yesterday at Sacred Heart Hospital where she had been admitted Saturday.

Mrs. McRae, a native of Bean's Cove, Pa., had been in ill health three months. She was a daughter of the late William and Anna (Whip) Donahoe.

Move To The Suburbs Gives Cities Problems

Records show that the trend toward urban life has been under way in the United States since 1800. With the current probably as strong now as it ever has been, city planners are concerned about what is to be the city's share of the 63 million increase in U. S. population which the Census Bureau predicts will occur by 1975—if the national birth rate continues at its present level.

In an article entitled "Rush to Suburbs Just Starting," the March 2 issue of the U. S. News and World Report gives an insight into the expectations and plans of 24 areas included in a survey by its economic unit. Using statistics of the Census Bureau in endeavoring to learn what the future holds for them, officials of some of these cities have concluded that together with their suburban areas they will double their population by 1975. Nearly all expect their cities to show a gain of more than 50 per cent in population.

The Census Bureau estimates that 46.5 million of the 63 million will settle in or near cities. Of the 46.5 million it is predicted more than 38 million will take up residence in city suburbs. Miami is confident it will triple in size in the next two decades. Los Angeles is confident of doubling in size, thus replacing Chicago as the nation's second largest city.

New York City faces the prospect of reaching 1975 with more people living just outside than inside its limits. Philadelphia anticipates a 46 per cent population gain in the 20 years ahead but anticipates that in the meantime its suburbs will have gained 72 per cent.

As the News and World Report points out, when cities lose residents to surrounding areas they are left with municipal revenue problems. New York is pictured as faced by a future in which its middle class population will be drained off, leaving it more citizens of the lower income groups.

Other cities foresee increased demand for more services while their populations grow less and less able to pay the costs. These prospects are causing many cities to consider tax policies aimed at the pocketbooks of suburbanites which the cities serve. Two popular measures are sales taxes and payroll levies, but there are also others.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

It Depends On Who Says It

A wise man said the other day that President Eisenhower spoiled all dinner conversation by announcing that he would run again. Now, the wise man said, there is nothing to talk about except the probability of Dick Nixon running for Vice President, Grace Kelly's marriage to Grimaldi, and the gyrations of the French.

Well, that is conversation enough for most dinner parties. Of course, a good argument can be started by being either pro-Arab or pro-Israel, particularly among those who dislike being classified as pro anything that may prove dangerous in a month or two. Even in the hospital, I heard the latest cliché which is: "Money isn't everything but it gets a lot of things." That profound remark is supposed to be final and to represent profound thought.

As I have to live, temporarily I hope, on 1,500 calories, which used to cover my breakfast, I shall not be listening to such conversations for some time to come. Nevertheless, by indirection, I hear the latest pearls of wisdom and it would seem that what is most dangerous in this very rich and self-satisfied country is that having often been on the brink of more wars and having somehow evaded them, we are cultivating a sense of security that "God's in his heaven and all's right with the world," which makes it very easy. This may explain the current vogue of vodka.

So one looks at "Pravda" and comes across a paragraph like this:

"Contrary to the case of capitalist countries, where the state and the people are implacable enemies, the Soviet state is strong through the consciousness (soznatel'nost) of the masses, through their active participation in state construction in all fields of economic and cultural life. The profound comprehension of the unity of the interests of the state and of the people, the knowledge that Soviet people are working for themselves, for their society, multiplies their forces and inspires them toward new labor feats."

That is a topsy-turvy description of our country which is supposed to be capitalistic. Surely the American people are not implacable enemies of their government, although none of us like tax-collectors which is only natural. Our government is a body of our own selection. Every two years we go to the polls and pick Representatives, Senators, occasionally a Governor and on Leap Year, a President. No one is forced to pick a particular candidate; he can vote for another or for nobody.

If, for instance, Jacob Javits runs against Herbert Lehman for Senator, I shall write in the name of my dog, Joe, who, I feel would surely represent me more adequately than either of these gentlemen. But there is no implacable enmity about all this. It is the give and take of a free system, with a little humor to boot.

No American hates his government nor does he regard himself as being governed or ruled by his government. We still own our government and all officials are servants of the people. And when we weary of a public official, we do not need to kill him; we retire him to writing books as Mr. Truman has been doing. But there is no enmity, certainly no implacable enmity.

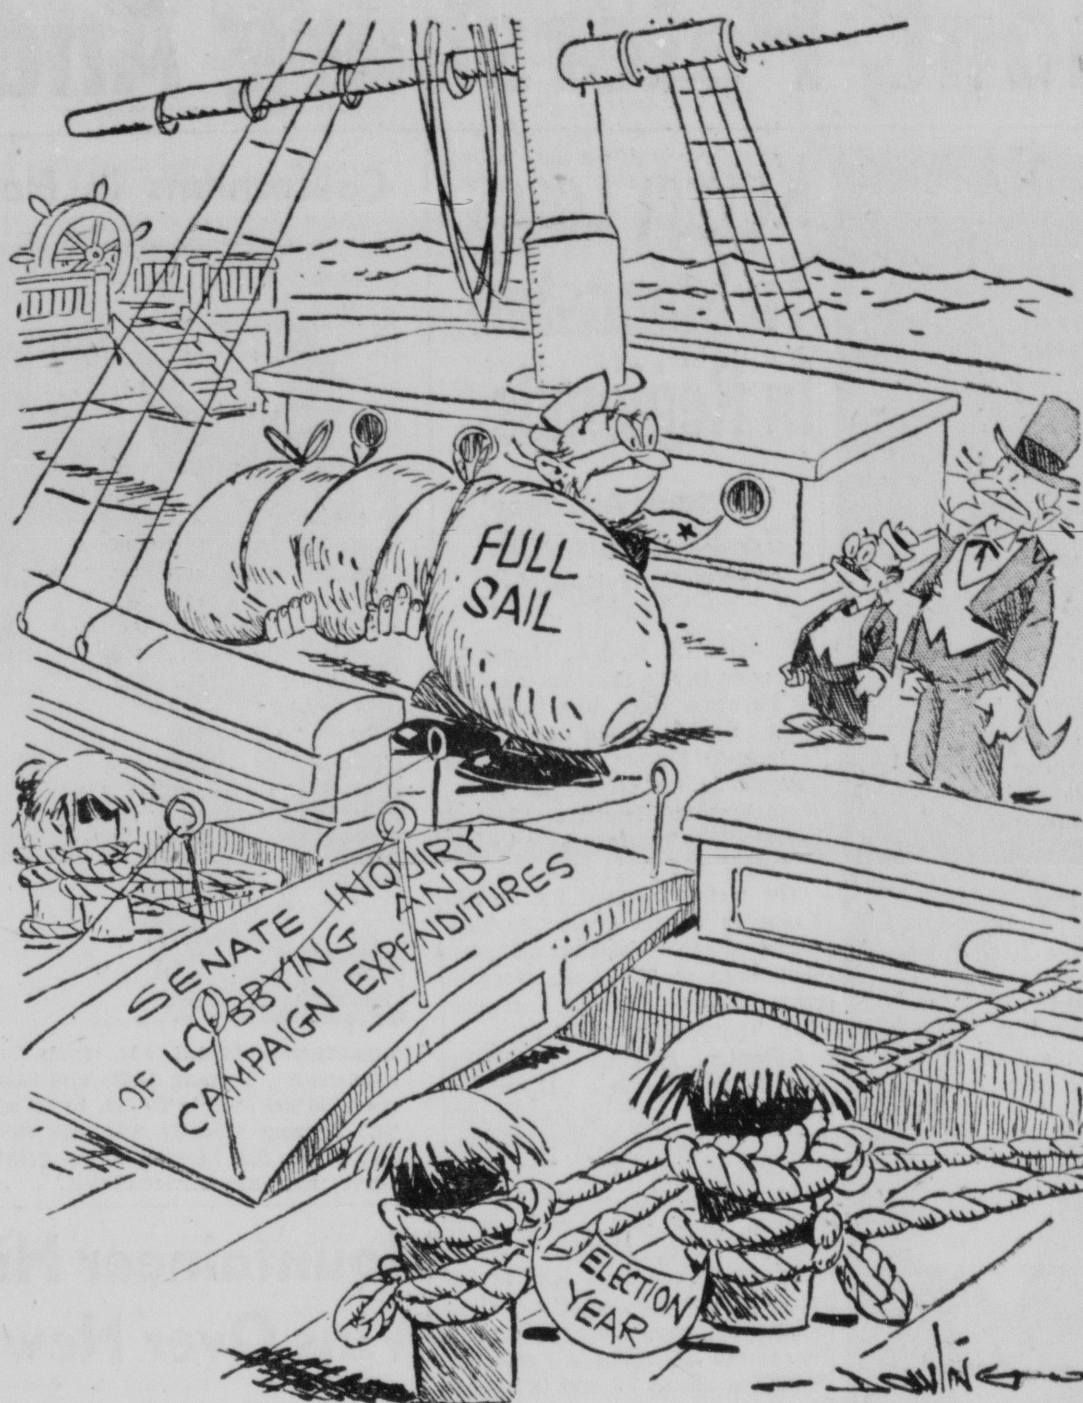

Such a paragraph as the one I just quoted really explains why there is so much trouble in the world. Different peoples do not understand each other and what is worse, in spite of all the propaganda and good-will, they cannot understand each other. Each race of man is like the youth who has discovered love for the first time and believes that he must be the first one who discovered it.

The Russians, for some reason, cannot grasp that an American can be as patriotic as a Russian is. He feels that he alone appreciates this quality of love of country; therefore there must be an implacable enmity between the American people and their government. And when we look at such a brutal creature as Stalin was, we wonder that any people can be loyal to a government that he heads.

And then a war comes and all these people sacrifice their lives for their country, including the Germans who must sometimes have wondered at the idiosyncrasies of Hitler and his gang. But everybody comes to believe his is God's country—except a Communist who only loves Russia.

Ike's Remarks May Lead To Bitter Fight In GOP

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Defeat of President Eisenhower for re-election has become a distinct possibility.

The press conference remarks of the President on Wednesday of this week have made inevitable a bitter fight inside the Republican party. It may not be settled at the national convention in August and could definitely influence enough votes in November to cause a serious disaffection among regular Republicans and hence a large "stay-at-home" vote.

If Mr. Eisenhower had repeated what he said a week ago — namely, that he would not discuss the vice presidency because as yet he himself has not been nominated — he would have been on sound ground. But when the President revealed that he had told Vice President Nixon that he must "chart his own course," he was, in effect, opening up the whole subject for controversial discussion. This now will be intensified by the backers of rival candidates.

Of Greater Importance

In many respects the press conference this week transcended in political importance the one a week ago. The first was merely an announcement that Ike would run, while the second conference raised the distinct possibility that he may be defeated by a split in his own party.

For it is plain to see that the people around the President who have his ear have overestimated Mr. Eisenhower's political strength. They forget that in 1952, while the President carried many states, the margin was very close in several of them. This margin of victory was made possible in many cases by the indefatigable efforts of the Taft wing led by the late senator from Ohio himself. There will be no such force of harmony to pull the party together again if it splits on the Nixon issue. Abandoning Mr. Nixon will certainly be interpreted as a move hostile to the Taft wing of the party, which still controls many state organizations, and it is the enthusiastic support of such organizations which is most necessary for victory.

Saved Party From Defeat

In the effort to persuade the President to run, many of his advisers took the line that he was "sure to win." Then, however, when he made the decision to run, they permitted a serious doubt to be raised as to whether Mr. Nixon should or should not be on the ticket. They argued that he was a "liability." What isn't generally known is that in the 1954 congressional contests Mr. Nixon saved the Republican party from a humiliating defeat in several western states. He did so by vigorous campaigning that earned for him the undying enmity of his political opponents.

It would be the biggest break the Democrats could get if Mr. Nixon is eliminated from the ticket in 1956. Once he is kept out of the vice presidential nomination, of course, he will not draw crowds or produce a fraction of the political effect that he has heretofore.

The disaffection inside the Re-

How It Happened

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Arthur "Bugs" Baer is the originator of some of America's most-often-repeated sayings. In the absence of his regular column—"Bearing Down On the News"—because of his illness, The Cumberland News is presenting Baer's own explanations of how he came to coin some of the more famous of his sayings.

"Whatever became of Whistler's father?"

This is a line that is like beauty—it's in the eye of the beholder. It is provocative in that it starts the reader or listener to thinking about Whistler's father.

With the famous painting of his mother the man who Ruskin said "had flung a pot of paint in the face of the British public" proved that he was an artist and that his nocturnes were not really dogs.

It was Whistler who said "Twilight turns water tanks into mosques and smokestacks into minarets." But nevertheless looking upon the painting of Whistler's Mother in the Louvre I still wondered about Whistler's father — what kind of man was he — did he ever actually exist? The irascible little Whistler could have been hatched from a crocodile's egg.

In looking upon the picture of his mother in the Louvre I noticed he painted the worst side of her face and sat her on a hard chair.

That's when I wrote: "Whatever became of Whistler's father?"

Ike GOP Leaders In Congress Feel Optimistic Since His Announcement

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Needless to say, there were no long faces among Republican leaders of Congress when they called at the White House for their first legislative meeting with President Eisenhower following announcement that he would seek re-election.

Even sober-sided Bill Knowland of California, Senate GOP leader, whose own Presidential hopes were jettisoned by the Eisenhower declaration, seemed in high spirits. Knowland joined in congratulating the President, remarked that he hasn't "looked better" since the adjournment of the last Congress.

"I feel fine," agreed Ike. "Now that the tension is off, I hope we're all happier. I know I am. The outlook for the campaign is excellent. I've been getting splendid reports from all over the country."

As the President and his callers got down to legislative business, Ike added with a sly grin: "Now I really would be ready for a celebration if Congress passed my flexible-support farm bill."

GOP leaders frankly reported that it was too early to celebrate on this but that the prospects for flexible supports were by no means hopeless if the farm bill was referred to a joint conference of the two Houses of Congress.

House Leaders Joe Martin and Charlie Halleck were more optimistic about the super-highway bill, another measure that has high priority with Eisenhower. They reported that GOP members of the House Ways and Means Committee were confident that a satisfactory "financing plan" would be worked out for the highway bill, though not embodying the President's original proposal for the banks to float a bond issue. Ike replied that he still didn't favor the committee pay-as-you-go tax compromise worked out by the Democrats, but was willing to go along if this was the only hope of getting the super-roads bill through Congress.

NOTE—The Democrats have proposed taxes on tires, gasoline, Diesel oil, and a weight tax on trucks to finance the super-highways. They argue that a bond issue would mean gravy for the big bankers and shove the burden of payment on to the next generation.

Conflict Of Interest?

A possible conflict of interest lurks behind the scenes in the sudden opening up of the nation's wildlife refuges to oil and gas leasing after 50 years of resisting the oil companies.

An ex-official of the Interior Department, Harry J. Donohue, former aide to Assistant Secretary for Public Land Management Wesley D'Ewart, has now gone to work for an oil company. Donohue left Interior within a few days after new regulations were issued opening 252 wildlife refuges to oil and gas operations. He has accented as one of his first clients the Toklan Oil Corporation.

Interestingly enough, the Toklan Oil Corporation has an option on 20 oil-lease applications that were filed with the Interior Department by a speculator way back in 1951. To date the Interior Department has refused to grant the leases.

The lands involved are in the Lower Souris National Wildlife Refuge in North Dakota, one of the prize refuges opened to commercial oil operations while Donohue was still in the Department.

Queried by this column as to whether he would be barred from representing the Toklan Oil Corporation in view of his recent connection with Interior, Donohue replied: "I don't think so."

publican party is difficult to measure. This writer early in January of this year wrote a magazine article with praise for the Presidents' leadership and indicating that he ought to run again, whereupon a very heavy mail came from Republicans who said they had voted for Ike in 1952 but were pledging themselves never to do so again.

High up in the political councils of the Republican party they know more about these disaffections than they let on. The White House, which sometimes seems insulated against the political facts of life, appears to be unaware of it.

Health Emphasis Bad

Politically speaking, Mr. Eisenhower is often revealed as naive. This is sometimes a virtue, but in campaign strategy it can be fatal. Thus, the President gave the Democrats plenty of help on the health issue at this week's press conference by continuing to talk about it. Obviously, the reporters will bait him on the health question if he affords them the least opportunity.

Whatever definitive effect the President may have created by his television speech on March 1 was swept away by nationwide headlines telling of his feeling of doubt and unresolving concern for his future health as reflected in answers to questions at the press conference.

The President does not seem to have learned how to avoid answering embarrassing questions at press conferences. He often plays into the hands of his political opponents. A few more press conferences like the one this week and Chairman Butler of the Democratic National Committee will not need to discuss the health issue at all.

(Copyright, 1956, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

"I've looked over the regulations," Donohue said, "and generally speaking, a former employee is only barred from defending a case involving a claim against the United States Government. My clients are only interested in oil leases, and they don't constitute a claim."

Fact is, however, that Interior's rules of practice prohibit a former official from practicing before the Department "with respect to any matter to which he personally gave consideration or as to which he personally gained knowledge while serving as an officer or employee of the United States. . . ."

Under the rules, Donohue can represent Toklan Oil if he gets the okay of the Department's solicitor. He has just applied for such permission, and it will be interesting to see whether Solicitor Armstrong decides that there is a conflict of interest involved, or whether he grants approval on the grounds that Donohue neither "gave consideration to" nor "gained knowledge" about oil leasing in wildlife refuges while he was with Interior.

At it appears to the writer perfection in this life is not attainable, and it is a part of the divine purpose that it should be so.

Perfection as a goal is something to aim at, but John Stuart Mill, who had the highest IQ among the philosophers, thought its realization would be disappointing.

It remains then for us to think of perfection in art, science or religion not as a static, but as a will-o'-the-wisp to tell us on by degrees to a greater excellence.

Thorwaldsen, the famous Dutch sculptor, must have had that in mind when to the question what was his greatest work, he replied "The next one."

Paul the apostle must have had the same thing in mind when he said: "Not that I have already obtained or am already perfect, but I press on to make it my own" (Philippians 3:12).

"Verboten" On Pleasure

Historically, ecclesiastical leaders have been verse to any tendency to make the lot of man easier. The church fathers made abstemiousness a virtue by writing "Verboten" on everything that afforded pleasure.

If you like mince pie, don't eat it, for in so doing you forfeit your hope for pie-in-the-sky.

If you gormandise, and make a pig of yourself, you may soon become a guinea pig for the doctors.

The church fathers in England let the bars down slightly when they permitted a man to marry his deceased wife's sister, anesthetics having previously been given a permit just in case.

The Scotch physician Simpson aroused a storm of clerical and medical protest when in 1847 he used chloroform in childbirth. Didn't the Bible say that Eve and her daughters should bring forth their children in sorrow? Simpson countered: "When God produced Eve from Adam's rib, he first put Adam to sleep."

As I study the human animal I observe that most of us do about as we please, and afterwards find reasons for doing it. And that is putting the horse in the saddle rather than the saddle on the horse, which is not horse sense.

In our Latin days Caesar informed us that "all Gaul is divided into three parts." We have since discovered other tricotomies—man himself is trifold—body, mind and spirit.

As long as these three operate in proper balance we have a full rounded out life. But let mutiny arise and we are plunged into the "gall of bitterness."

You are physically below par and you go to your doctor, who prescribes exercise. Walk five miles a day. And you are a postman!

One day a sick man came to be examined. The doctor said, "You're too melancholy. Why don't you go to the pantomime and watch the antics of the famous clown Pulcinello?" "Ah, I am Pulcinello, the sick man."

When a man is at his wit's end and doesn't know what to do, he usually turns to a Higher Wisdom for guidance. Then if it suits his convenience he will follow it.

At the first session of the Constitutional convention when someone suggested that the meeting be opened with prayer, Alexander Hamilton is reputed to have said, "We have no need of alien influences."

When Hezekiah, king of Judah, received a very disturbing letter one day, he went to the temple and "spread it before the Lord" (II Kings 19:14).

When another great leader had to decide whether to "shrink" the presidency or just continue as "part time president" he probably spread the matter before the Lord, but he was too polite to let it be known, for fear the party big-wigs might be jealous.

Your main puzzlement, perhaps, may be ecological. You wonder why you couldn't have been born at some other time or place, and of a different parentage.

Your grandchildren deplore that you are not a contemporary, then you would be so much wiser. Then when later on they come to you with their problems as to a Nestor, your have your comeuppance.

Leap Year Proposal

You wonder why you couldn't have been born a poet, like Longfellow. But even he would never have been if Priscilla Mullen had not made a Leap Year proposal to John Alden.

Be not dismayed, there are other verses to write, other pictures to paint, other fields to plow, and other "catches" in the sea of matrimony.

The approaching nuptials of Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier has glamorized the hopes of many would-be, and incidentally brought marriage itself to a new high of popular concern.

Einstein did much to discourage marriage, when he said that "in all this universe there is no hitching post." In the vernacular that would mean, "no (s)parking at any time on either side of the street."

Many people remain single and live happily ever after. Too many unequally yoked are not happy till they are single.

Among the many advantages of marriage, you can no longer boast of being a self-made man, and that relieves God of a great responsibility.

The supreme happiness in life is not in being somebody else, but in being yourself in spite of everything.

Skipper, When Do We Get Under Way?

Move To The Suburbs Gives Cities Problems

Records show that the trend toward urban life has been under way in the United States since 1800. With the current probably as strong now as it ever has been, city planners are concerned about what is to be the city's share of the 63 million increase in U. S. population which the Census Bureau predicts will occur by 1975—if the national birth rate continues at its present level.

In an article entitled "Rush to Suburbs Just Starting," the March 2 issue of the U. S. News and World Report gives an insight into the expectations and plans of 24 areas included in a survey by its economic unit. Using statistics of the Census Bureau in endeavoring to learn what the future holds for them, officials of some of these cities have concluded that together with their suburban areas they will double their population by 1975. Nearly all expect their cities to show a gain of more than 50 per cent in population.

The Census Bureau estimates that 46.5 million of the 63 million will settle in or near cities. Of the 46.5 million it is predicted more than 38 million will take up residence in city suburbs. Miami is confident it will triple in size in the next two decades. Los Angeles is confident of doubling in size, thus replacing Chicago as the nation's second largest city.

New York City faces the prospect of reaching 1975 with more people living just outside than inside its limits. Philadelphia anticipates a 46 per cent population gain in the 20 years ahead but anticipates that in the meantime its suburbs will have gained 72 per cent.

As the News and World Report points out, when cities lose residents to surrounding areas they are left with municipal revenue problems. New York is pictured as faced by a future in which its middle class population will be drained off, leaving it more citizens of the lower income groups.

Other cities foresee increased demand for more services while their populations grow less and less able to pay the costs. These prospects are causing many cities to consider tax policies aimed at the pocketbooks of suburbanites which the cities serve. Two popular measures are sales taxes and payroll levies, but there are also others.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

It Depends On Who Says It

A wise man said the other day that President Eisenhower spoiled all dinner conversation by announcing that he would run again. Now, the wise man said, there is nothing to talk about except the probability of Dick Nixon running for Vice President, Grace Kelly's marriage to Grimaldi, and the gyrations of the French.

Well, that is conversation enough for most dinner parties. Of course, a good argument can be started by being either pro-Arab or pro-Israel, particularly among those who dislike being classified as pro anything that may prove dangerous in a month or two. Even in the hospital, I heard the latest cliché which is: "Money isn't everything but it gets a lot of things." That profound remark is supposed to be final and to represent profound thought.

As I have to live, temporarily I hope, on 1,500 calories, which used to cover my breakfast, I shall not be listening to such conversations for some time to come. Nevertheless, by indirection, I hear the latest pearls of wisdom and it would seem that what is most dangerous in this very rich and self-satisfied country is that having often been on the brink of more wars and having somehow evaded them, we are cultivating a sense of security that "God's in his heaven and all's right with the world," which makes it very easy. This may explain the current vogue of vodka.

So one looks at "Pravda" and comes across a paragraph like this:

"Contrary to the case of capitalist countries, where the state and the people are implacable enemies, the Soviet state is strong through the consciousness (soznatel'nost') of the masses, through their active participation in state construction in all fields of economic and cultural life. The profound comprehension of the unity of the interests of the state and of the people, the knowledge that Soviet people are working for themselves, for their society, multiplies their forces and inspires them toward new labor feats."

That is a topsy-turvy description of our country which is supposed to be capitalistic. Surely the American people are not implacable enemies of their government, although none of us like tax-collectors which is only natural. Our government is a body of our own selection. Every two years we go to the polls and pick Representatives, Senators, occasionally a Governor and on Leap Year, a President. No one is forced to pick a particular candidate; he can vote for another or for nobody.

If, for instance, Jacob Javits runs against Herbert Lehman for Senator, I shall write in the name of Joe, Joe, who, I feel would surely represent me more adequately than either of these gentlemen. But there is no implacable enmity about all this. It is the give and take of a free system, with a little humor to boot.

No American hates his government nor does he regard himself as being governed or ruled by his government. We still own our government and all officials are servants of the people. And when we weary of a public official, we do not need to kill him; we retire him to writing books as Mr. Truman has been doing. But there is no enmity, certainly no implacable enmity.

Such a paragraph as the one I just quoted really explains why there is so much trouble in the world. Different peoples do not understand each other and what is worse, in spite of all the propaganda and good-will, they cannot understand each other. Each race of man is like the youth who has discovered love for the first time and believes that he must be the first one who discovered it.

The Russians, for some reason, cannot grasp that an American can be as patriotic as a Russian is. He feels that he alone appreciates this quality of love of country; therefore there must be an implacable enmity between the American people and their government. And when we look at such a brutal creature as Stalin was, we wonder that any people can be loyal to a government that he heads.

And then a war comes and all these people sacrifice their lives for their country, including the Germans who must sometimes have wondered at the idiosyncrasies of Hitler and his gang. But everybody comes to believe his is God's country—except a Communist who only loves Russia.

Ike's Remarks May Lead To Bitter Fight In GOP

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Defeat of President Eisenhower for re-election has become a distinct possibility.

The press conference remarks of the President on Wednesday of this week have made inevitable a bitter fight inside the Republican party. It may not be settled at the national convention in August and could definitely influence enough votes in November to cause a serious disaffection among regular Republicans and hence a large "stay-at-home" vote.

If Mr. Eisenhower had repeated what he said a week ago — namely, that he would not discuss the vice presidency because as yet he himself has not been nominated — he would have been on sound ground. But when the President revealed that he had told Vice President Nixon that he must "chart his own course," he was, in effect, opening up the whole subject for controversial discussion. This now will be intensified by the backers of rival candidates.

Of Greater Importance

In many respects the press conference this week transcended in political importance the one a week ago. The first was merely an announcement that Ike would run, while the second conference raised the distinct possibility that he may be defeated by a split in his own party.

For it is plain to see that the people around the President who have his ear have overestimated Mr. Eisenhower's political strength. They forget that in 1952, while the President carried many states, the margin was very close in several of them. This margin of victory was made possible in many cases by the indefatigable efforts of the Taft wing led by the late senator from Ohio himself. There will be no such force of harmony to pull the party together again if it splits on the Nixon issue. Abandoning Mr. Nixon will certainly be interpreted as a move hostile to the Taft wing of the party, which still controls many state organizations, and it is the enthusiastic support of such organizations which is most necessary for victory.

Saved Party From Defeat

In the effort to persuade the President to run, many of his advisers took the line that he was "sure to win." Then, however, when he made the decision to run, they permitted a serious doubt to be raised as to whether Mr. Nixon should or should not be on the ticket. They argued that he was a "liability." What isn't generally known is that in the 1954 congressional contests Mr. Nixon saved the Republican party from a humiliating defeat in several western states. He did so by vigorous campaigning that earned for him the undying enmity of his political opponents.

It would be the biggest break the Democrats could get if Mr. Nixon is eliminated from the ticket in 1956. Once he is kept out of the vice presidential nomination, of course, he will not draw crowds or produce a fraction of the political effect that he has heretofore.

How It Happened

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Arthur "Bugs" Baer is the originator of some of America's most often repeated sayings. In the absence of his regular column—"Baering Down on the News"—because of his illness, The Cumberland News is presenting Baer's own explanations of how he came to coin some of the more famous of his sayings.

"Whatever became of Whistler's father?" This is a line that is like beauty—it's in the eye of the beholder. It is provocative in that it starts the reader or listener to thinking about Whistler's father.

With the famous painting of his mother the man who Ruskin said "had flung a pot of paint in the face of the British public" proved that he was an artist and that his nocturnes were not really dogs.

It was Whistler who said "Twilight turns water tanks into mosques and smokestacks into minarets." But nevertheless looking upon the painting of Whistler's Mother in the Louvre I still wondered about Whistler's father — what kind of man was he — did he ever actually exist? The irascible little Whistler could have been hatched from a crocodile's egg.

In looking upon the picture of his mother in the Louvre I noticed he painted the worst side of her face and sat her on a hard chair.

That's when I wrote: "Whatever became of Whistler's father?"

Ike, GOP Leaders In Congress Feel Optimistic Since His Announcement

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Needless to say, there were no long faces among Republican leaders of Congress when they called at the White House for their first legislative meeting with President Eisenhower following announcement that he would seek re-election.

Even sober-sided Bill Knowland of California, Senate GOP leader, whose own Presidential hopes were jettisoned by the Eisenhower declaration, seemed in high spirits. Knowland joined in congratulating the President, remarked that he hasn't "looked better" since the adjournment of the last Congress.

"I feel fine," agreed Ike. "Now that the tension is off, I hope we're all happier. I know I am. The outlook for the campaign is excellent. I've been getting splendid reports from all over the country."

As the President and his callers got down to legislative business, Ike added with a sly grin: "Now I really would be ready for a celebration if Congress passed my flexible-support farm bill."

GOP leaders frankly reported that it was too early to celebrate on this but that the prospects for flexible supports were by no means hopeless if the farm bill was referred to a joint conference of the two Houses of Congress.

House Leaders Joe Martin and Charlie Halleck were more optimistic about the super-highway bill, another measure that has high priority with Eisenhower. They reported that GOP members of the House Ways and Means Committee were confident that a satisfactory "financing plan" would be worked out for the highway bill, though not embodying the President's original proposal for the banks to float a bond issue.

Ike replied that he still didn't favor the committee pay-as-you-go tax compromise worked out by the Democrats, but was willing to go along if this was the only hope of getting the super-roads bill through Congress.

NOTE—The Democrats have proposed taxes on tires, gasoline, Diesel oil, and a weight tax on trucks to finance the super-highways. They argue that a bond issue would mean gravy for the big bankers and shove the burden of payment on to the next generation.

Conflict Of Interest?

A possible conflict of interest lurks behind the scenes in the sudden opening up of the nation's wildlife refuges to oil and gas leasing after 50 years of resisting the oil companies.

An ex-official of the Interior Department, Harry J. Donohue, former aide to Assistant Secretary for Public Land Management Wesley D'Ewart, has now gone to work for an oil company. Donohue left Interior within a few days after new regulations were issued opening 252 wildlife refuges to oil and gas operations. He has accepted as one of his first clients the Toklan Oil Corporation.

Interestingly enough, the Toklan Oil Corporation has an option on 20 oil-lease applications that were filed with the Interior Department by a speculator way back in 1951. To date the Interior Department has refused to grant the leases.

The lands involved are in the Lower Souris National Wildlife Refuge in North Dakota, one of the prize refuges opened to commercial oil operations while Donohue was still in the Department.

Quered by this column as to whether he would be barred from representing the Toklan Oil Corporation in view of his recent connection with Interior, Donohue replied: "I don't think so."

Helpful Advice On Steps To Follow In Shaving

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deifen

Shaving is a tiresome chore, despite claims to the contrary. Whiskers never fall off or wilt away, even when the job is done properly. Each man has his own particular problem and the best razor and shaving cream are those most suitable for him. Beards vary from one individual to another and sprout at different angles even in different parts of the face. It takes a man 10 years or more to find a shaving technic that works best.

The secret to a good shave is a wet beard. A few minutes are needed to eliminate the natural grease on the beard. The face should be washed thoroughly with soap and hot water. Lather well and wait at least two minutes for the area to become thoroughly saturated.

The softening process cannot be hurried but while waiting, brush your teeth or clean your fingernails. There is no objection to applying a warm towel or to spending more time in lathering but the result will be the same so long as water or shaving soap is in contact with the beard.

Electric razor users need not go through this routine; they have their own rituals. The face should be rinsed well with cold water and the application of a shaving lotion or powder is an individual choice.

The skin of most men tolerates shaving. Cuts and nicks are bound to occur but prompt healing is the rule. Improper shaving, however, may cause one or many lesions. Many men stretch the skin and shave against the grain to clip the whiskers close.

When tension is released the hair shaft retracts into the filament beneath the skin level. When the hair begins to regrow, its sharp end may penetrate the wall of the follicle instead of protruding from the opening (ingrown hair). This occurs easily because the skin grows faster than the hair and tends to block the opening of the follicle.

As a result, the end of the hair acts as a foreign body and festers like a sliver. Occasionally only the tip gets stuck and a loop forms as the hair continues to grow. The best preventive is to use care when shaving by not stretching the skin or shaving too close, especially when going against the grain.

Ingrown hairs must be removed with a tweezer. When performing bathroom surgery, the face and hands must be kept as clean as possible by using soap and water generously. But all the cleaning in the world will not prevent infection unless the tweezers are sterilized before they are used.

Rams Announce Football Card

Shepherd Sets Dates For Eight Contests

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. — Donald E. Fuoss, head coach and athletic director of Shepherd College, has announced the Rams 1956 football schedule.

An attractive home schedule of five games has been arranged with Fairmont, Glenville, Concord and Davis and Elkins, all West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference teams, and Shippensburg, a Pennsylvania State Teachers College Conference team, appearing in Shepherdstown. D.E. will be the Rams' homecoming opponent on October 27th. On the road the Rams will meet Newport News, District of Columbia Teachers and Shepherd's traditional rival, Potomac State, a WVIAC foe.

The Shepherd Rams are defending WVIAC champions, having won their first Conference championship in 1955. The Rams were one of only 20 undefeated-untied college teams in the nation in '55, having compiled an 8-0 record. Coach Fuoss was selected "College Coach of the Year" by the West Virginia Sports Writers Association.

The complete schedule is as follows:

Sept. 15—Fairmont, home.
Sept. 22—Glenville, home.
Sept. 29—Shippensburg, home.
Oct. 6—Newport News, Va., away.
Oct. 13—Potomac State, away.
Oct. 20—D. C. Teachers, Washington D. C., away.
Oct. 27—Davis & Elkins, home.
Nov. 3—Concord, home.
X-Friday night game.

Southpaw By Accident

CINCINNATI (AP)—Don Gross, rookie lefthander of the Redlegs, became a southpaw as a result of a childhood injury. At the age of seven his right arm was severely broken when caught in a washing machine wringer. After that he learned to pitch and bat left-handed.

RADICALLY NEW in design, the Cincinnati Reds will wear these uniforms this season. Ted Kluszewski (left) models the sleeveless home suit while Roy McMillan wears the road outfit at Tampa, Fla., training camp. Note Roy's helmet-cap. (International)

Keyser Loses To Shinnston In Regionals

Spartans Advance To 3-A Finals With 70 To 52 Triumph

FAIRMONT, W. Va., March 6—Shinnston High's Spartans, sparked by Forward Mara who tallied 21 points, used a second half spurge to trounce Keyser High's Golden Tornado in the semi-finals of the West Virginia Region 3, Class A basketball tournament here tonight at Fairmont College gym.

The victory vaulted the Section 9 winners into the finals with Morgantown High's Mohigans Saturday night here at 8 o'clock. Morgantown defeated Fairmont East Side High Thursday night, 68-58.

Shinnston, coached by Warder Powell, sported only a 9-11 regular season mark before downing Fairmont West Side High, 59-56, to capture the Sectional title. The upset triumph snapped a seven-game winning streak for Coach John Shelton's Keyser quintet.

Keyser took a brief lead at 6-4 in the opening quarter after Shinnston opened the game's scoring. Guard Bill Rotunda's goal put Shinnston ahead 7-6 and the Spartans were never again headed. Keyser trailed 15-12, 33-26 and 52-37 at the quarters.

Keyser twice pulled within four points in the third period before Shinnston gunned ahead with a 19-point spurt while the Tornado was garnering only 11 tallies. In the final canto Shinnston added to the margin by outscoring Keyser, 18-15.

The victors hit the nets for 26 goals and added 18 of 28 fouls. Keyser, whose top scorers, George Wilson and Scott Ward, were held to 6 and 3 points respectively, converted only 4 of 32 foul shots and hit for 9 goals.

West, Shinnston forward, was the only player to leave the game on personal fouls. The lineups:

Rams Announce Football Card

Shepherd Sets Dates For Eight Contests

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. — Donald E. Fuoss, head coach and athletic director of Shepherd College, has announced the Rams 1956 football schedule.

An attractive home schedule of five games has been arranged with Fairmont, Glenville, Concord and Davis and Elkins, all West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference teams, and Shippensburg, a Pennsylvania State Teachers College Conference team, appearing in Shepherdstown. D.E. will be the Rams' homecoming opponent on October 27th. On the road the Rams will meet Newport News, District of Columbia Teachers and Shepherd's traditional rival, Potomac State, a WVIAC foe.

The Shepherd Rams are defending WVIAC champions, having won their first Conference championship in 1955. The Rams were one of only 20 undefeated-untied college teams in the nation in '55, having compiled an 8-0-0 record. Coach Fuoss was selected "College Coach of the Year" by the West Virginia Sports Writers Association.

The complete schedule is as follows: Sept. 15—Fairmont, home. Sept. 22—Glenville, home. Sept. 29—Shippensburg, home. Oct. 6—Newport News, Va., away. Oct. 13—Potomac State, away. Oct. 20—D. C. Teachers, Washington, D. C., away. Oct. 27—Davis & Elkins, home. Nov. 3—Concord, home. A-Friday night game.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Don Gross, rookie left-hander of the Redlegs, became a southpaw as a result of a childhood injury. At the age of seven his right arm was severely broken when caught in a washing machine wringer. After that he learned to pitch and bat left-handed.

Real Hunting Dog

EDMONSTON, Ky. (AP)—Because of the late hour, the Rev. E. L. Dixon and Clarence Hedges called off the hunt after their three dogs treed a coon. Reaching home, Dixon discovered one of his dogs missing. Three days passed. Then Dixon returned to the place where the coon had been treed. There was the bound, still holding the coon at bay.

Catching On. BRISTOL, Va. (AP)—Kenny Worley certainly learned how to handle a baseball bat. Once the bat-boy of the Bristol Twins in the Class D Appalachian League here, Worley is now assigned as a catcher with the Brooklyn Dodgers' Class AA Texas League farm club in Fort Worth.

Trio Of Victories. HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—Dartmouth basketball captain Toby Julian had a happy but harried week. Sandwiched between upset cage wins over Columbia and Holy Cross, in which he scored 16 and 18 points respectively, Toby rushed his wife to the hospital where she gave birth to a girl—their second child.

RADICALLY NEW in design, the Cincinnati Reds will wear these uniforms this season. Ted Kluszewski (left) models the sleeveless home suit while Roy McMillan wears the road outfit at Tampa, Fla., training camp. Note Roy's helmet-cap. (International)

Keyser Loses To Shinnston In Regionals. FAIRMONT, W. Va., March 6.—Shinnston High's Spartans, sparked by Forward Mara who tallied 21 points, used a second half spurge to trounce Keyser High's Golden Tornado in the semi-finals of the West Virginia Region 3, Class A basketball tournament here tonight at Fairmont College gym.

The victory vaulted the Section 9 winners into the finals with Morgantown High's Mohicans Saturday night here at 8 o'clock. Morgantown defeated Fairmont East Side High Thursday night, 68-58. Shinnston, coached by Warder Powell, sported only a 9-11 regular season mark before downing Fairmont West Side High, 59-56, to capture the Sectional title. The upset triumph snapped a seven-game winning streak for Coach John Shelton's Keyser quintet.

Keyser took a brief lead at 6-4 in the opening quarter after Shinnston opened the game's scoring. Guard Bill Rotunda's goal put Shinnston ahead 7-6 and the Spartans were never again headed. Keyser trailed 15-12, 33-26 and 52-37 at the quarters.

Keyser twice pulled within four points in the third period before Shinnston gunned ahead with a 19-point spurt while the Tornado was garnering only 11 tallies. In the final canto Shinnston added to the margin by outscoring Keyser, 18-15. The victors hit the nets for 26 goals and added 18 of 28 fouls. Keyser, whose top scorers, George Wilson and Scott Ward, were held to 6 and 3 points respectively, converted only 4 of 32 foul shots and hit for 9 goals.

West, Shinnston forward, was the only player to leave the game on personal fouls. The lineups: SPORTS — Add Keyser Lineups: Shinnston G. F. P. F. T. Morgantown High trailed at 36-23 at halftime in tonight's game but found the range in the third quarter, moved ahead at 53-44, and went on to win.

Meyer Paces Attack. Herman "Buddy" Meyer and Frank Quattro were the "big guns" for Morgantown High with 23 and 18 tallies. Newcome was top scorer for Newburg with 20 points while Silcott and Tucker slammed in 16 each. George Huffman and Frank Quattro of Thomas fouled out in the final period.

The Mountaineers posted their 17th win in 21 outings this season. They held two decisions over Coalton, 84-47 and 73-61.

Coalton Beats Stags. In the opening game of the semi-final round, Coach Glenn Gainer's Coalton High School cagers of Randolph County provided a surprise by knocking Kingwood High School's Stags out of the tournament by romping off with a 60-50 decision.

Led by Tommy Silvester who slammed in 23 points, Coalton jumped off to a 23-10 lead in the first period and never was headed. The score was 35-21 at halftime and 47-36 at the end of the third quarter.

Tommy Silvester rang up his 23 points on eight field goals and seven conversions in nine tries at the foul line. Fox contributed 13 points for the winning cause. Shade and Jackson were Kingwood's chief point makers with 15 and 12 tallies.

Huck Miers' Quint Routes Tribe, 62-39. SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va., March 9.—Petersburg High School's Vikings and Piedmont High School's Lions became finalists in the Region 4, Class B basketball tournament tonight when they eliminated Hedgesville and Berkeley Springs in semi-final round games at Shepherd College.

Coach Jesse Riggelman's Petersburg quint downed the Hedgesville Eagles in the opening game, 60-57, while Coach William "Huck" Miers' Piedmont High P.V.C. and Mineral County League champions routed the Berkeley Springs Indians, 62-39.

The championship game is set for Saturday night at 8 o'clock with the winner slated to meet the Region III victor from Parsons in one of the area playoff games next week.

Petersburg pulled the game out of the fire in the last 15 seconds of play after the Eagles had taken a 57-56 lead. Two foul goals by Dick Huffman and a like number by John "Deadeye" Yankey settled the issue in the Vikings favor.

Hedgesville had won nine in a row prior to tonight's game. Eddie Nelson dumped in 20 points and Dick Huffman collected 13 for the winners. Gabe Callett, Marvin Nadenbousch and Duane Foltz sparked Hedgesville with 16, 12 and 11 markers.

Piedmont rolled to its 10th straight triumph in disposing of Berkeley Springs. After a 10-10 first period the Lions grabbed a 28-18 lead at the half and held the end of a 49-27 score at the close of the third period.

Clay Smith collected 26 points for Piedmont on 11 field goals and 4-6 fouls. Shearl Close was top scorer for Berkeley with 11 tallies. Lineups: (Semi-Final Round) Petersburg G. F. P. F. T. Safe Sheep. HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Montana's early severe winter apparently had no ill effect on its Bighorn sheep. The State Fish and Game Department said the sheep appear to be in excellent condition. A census crew counted 257 Bighorn sheep in the Sun River Valley, the state's most populous wild sheep area.

Frostburg State Teachers Will Play 14 Baseball Games

Bobcats Open With Ashland, Ohio, April 3

Ten Home Contests, Five Doubleheaders For Skinner's Club

Frostburg State Teachers College will play 14 games during the 1956 baseball season, including five doubleheaders and ten of the contests will be played at home, according to Kenneth Babcock, athletic director.

C. Waldon Skinner, former Fairmont State College athlete, who took over the reins of the Frostburg State basketball team last December and finished his first campaign with a 9-9 record, also will guide the destinies of the Bobcats' baseball team.

Candidates are scheduled to report on Monday.

The Bobcats appear to be well fortified in all departments but pitching but will be much stronger on the mound if Bob Lookabaugh, a leading sandlotter, reports for duty. The Bobcats won three and lost seven last season.

A doubleheader with Ashland, Ohio, College at Frostburg Tuesday, April 3 will launch the 1956 campaign. Other colleges on the schedule are Mt. Union and Kent State of Ohio, Potomac State of Keyser, Penn State Freshmen, Shippensburg Teachers, District of Columbia Teachers of Washington, D. C., and Montgomery Junior College of Takoma Park, Md.

The schedule:

Tues. April 3—Ashland, Ohio, home, 2 games (1:30)
Sat. April 7—Mt. Union, Ohio, home, 2 games (1:30)
Mon. April 9—Kent State, Ohio, home, 2 games (1:30)
Thurs. April 12—Potomac State, home, 2 games (1:30)
Wed. April 18—Potomac State, away, 2 games (1:30)
Sat. April 21—Shippensburg, Pa., away, 2 games (1:30)
Sat. May 5—D. C. Teachers, Washington, 2 games (1:30)
Sat. May 12—Montgomery Jr. College, home, 2 games (1:30)
Sat. May 19—Potomac State, home, 2 games (1:30)

Skinner Will Not Play 1st For Bucs

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 9 (AP)—Manager Bobby Bragan said today Bob Skinner no longer fits into the Pittsburgh Pirates plans for first base duty.

"You can say we're dismissing Skinner as a first base candidate," said Bragan. "He has too much to learn to play the bag as it should be handled. But I like his bat and for that reason we're going to try and make an outfielder out of him."

Black Is Runner-Up; Field Reduced To 74

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 9 (AP)—Two 28-year-old pros, neither of whom has had any particular success on the golf tournament circuit, forged to the front today at the halfway mark of the $12,500 Pensacola Open.
Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City, Okla., and George Bigham, Kansas City, Mo., tied with five under par 139s after 36 holes. Wininger won the Hot Springs, Ark., meet earlier and is a former champion of the Baton Rouge, La., Open. Bigham is a newcomer to the circuit.
Wininger had a 67 to go with his opening round 72, and Bigham shot a 69, one under his opening day 70.
Black Is Second
Runnerup was young Joe Black, Abilene, Tex., with 71-69-140.
The field was cut to the low 64 pros and 10 amateurs for the final two rounds tomorrow and Sunday. The cutoff was 150 for the pros and 154 for the amateurs.
Hottest rounds of the day were turned in by two more young pros, Dick Masterson, Oakmont, Pa., and Arnold Palmer from Latrobe, Pa., who came home with six under par 66s. Both had been well over par in the opening round, Masterson carding a 77 and Palmer a 78.
Ed Furgol, the 1954 U. S. Open champion, was in a contending position behind the leaders with a 72-69-141. Seven other players were bracketed at that figure.
Jerry Kesselring, Toronto, Can., the opening day leader at 68, blew sky high in the second round and slipped back with a 76 for a 36-hole total of 144.
Tied with Furgol for third place were Ivan Gantz, Indianapolis, Ind.; Don Fairfield, Casey, Ill.; Ernie Bossler, Fort Worth, Tex.; Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla.; Dow Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Pa.; Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Buck White, Memphis, Tenn.

Wes Santee's Amateur Life Is Extended

NEW YORK, March 9 (AP)—Wes Santee had his amateur life extended at least another week in another legal skirmish today and will run in the Milwaukee Journal games tomorrow night.
Justice Irving L. Levey of the New York State Supreme Court continued an injunction obtained by Santee and set next Thursday for trial of the proceedings.
Third Legal Victory
It marked the third legal victory in eight days for Santee's attorney, Charles P. Grimes, over the Amateur Athletic Union. On Feb. 19, the AAU suspended Santee for life on charges of taking excessive expenses in meets last year. Santee now is a Marine Corps lieutenant.
But last Thursday, Grimes was granted a preliminary injunction by Justice James B. M. McNally of the State Supreme Court barring the AAU from carrying out its suspension. Then on Saturday Justice Charles D. Breitel of the Appellate Division turned down an AAU plea to set aside the injunction.
"I can't any more than my associates pass final judgment," said Justice Levey. "Surely, the AAU must subscribe to a full hearing."
"Even a hardened criminal—which Mr. Santee is not—is entitled to apply for a certificate of reasonable doubt giving him freedom pending appeal."
Most of Grimes' plea concerned the legal aspects of the right of the AAU executive committee to suspend Santee. He maintained it had no authority to act and that if it wished to reopen the case, it should go back to the runner's local district, the Missouri Valley Assn., which cleared him of charges once.
Grimes did inject one statement that could lead to all sorts of ramifications, though. He told the court that all expenses Santee accepted—he did not say any were excessive as charged—were with the "approval of high—not low—AAU officials."

16 Major League Teams Open Grapefruit-Cactus Scramble

Three New Managers Lead National Clubs

(By The Associated Press)
All 16 major league baseball clubs will pair off today in the opening games of the grapefruit-cactus league exhibition scramble, and the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers start right away with a night game at Miami against the Boston Red Sox.
A dozen teams, headed by the American League champion New York Yankees, will start the ball rolling at Florida training sites, while four others swing into action in Arizona.
Most managers will send rookie pitchers to the firing lines for the openers, holding back the proven and more experienced hurlers for later appearances. There also will be a liberal sprinkling of newcomers at the infield and outfield positions as the master minds begin finding out who will stick around, and determine the players slated to go back to the minors for further seasoning.
Three New Managers
In the National League, three new managers will lead their clubs into battle but all of the American League pilots are back for another season. Bill Rigney moved up from Minneapolis to replace Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants since the 1948 season, while Bobby Bragan is at the Pittsburgh Pirates helm and Freddie Hutchinson has charge of the St. Louis Cardinals. Bragan, from Hollywood of the Coast League, takes over the Pirates, who finished last under Fred Haney. Hutchinson, former Detroit manager, relieves Harry Walker, who replaced Eddie Stanky at St. Louis during the 1955 season.
Here are the exhibition openers: Arizona — At Scottsdale, Chicago

St. Louis Cardinals' Hurler Hospitalized

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 9 (AP)—Willard Schmidt, considered the top right-hander on the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff, was rushed to a hospital today with an intestinal obstruction.
Dr. I. C. Middleman, team physician, said he was hopeful that surgery could be avoided but he said the 26-year-old Schmidt previously had three abdominal operations.
He said a fourth operation would be serious and would keep Schmidt idle indefinitely, possibly for the season.

Frostburg State Teachers Will Play 14 Baseball Games

Bobcats Open With Ashland, Ohio, April 3

Ten Home Contests, Five Doubleheaders For Skinner's Club

Frostburg State Teachers College will play 14 games during the 1956 baseball season, including five doubleheaders and ten of the contests will be played at home, according to Kenneth Babcock, athletic director.

C. Waldon Skinner, former Fairmont State College athlete, who took over the reins of the Frostburg State basketball team last December and finished his first campaign with a 9-9 record, also will guide the destinies of the Bobcats' baseball team.

Candidates are scheduled to report on Monday.

The Bobcats appear to be well fortified in all departments but pitching but will be much stronger on the mound if Bob Lookbaugh, a leading sandlotter, reports for duty. The Bobcats won three and lost seven last season.

A doubleheader with Ashland, Ohio, College at Frostburg Tuesday, April 3 will launch the 1956 campaign. Other colleges on the schedule are Mt. Union and Kent State of Ohio, Potomac State of Keyser, Penn State Freshmen, Shippensburg Teachers, District of Columbia Teachers of Washington, D. C., and Montgomery Junior College of Takoma Park, Md.

The schedule:
Games, April 3—Ashland, Ohio, home, 2 games (1:30).
Sat. April 7—Mt. Union, Ohio, home, 2 games (1:30).
Mon. April 9—Kent State, Ohio, home, 2 games (1:30).
Thurs. April 12—Potomac State, away, 2 games (1:30).
Sat. April 15—Shippensburg, Pa., home, 2 games (1:30).
Sat. May 5—D. C. Teachers, Washington, away, 2 games (1:30).
Sat. May 12—Montgomery Jr. College, home, 2 games (1:30).
Sat. May 19—Potomac State, home, 2 games (1:30).

Skinner Will Not Play 1st For Bucs

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 9.—Manager Bobby Bragan said today Bob Skinner no longer fits into the Pittsburgh Pirates plans for first base duty.

"You can say we're dismissing Skinner as a first base candidate," said Bragan. "He has too much to learn to play the bag as it should be handled. But I like his bat and for that reason we're going to try and make an outfielder out of him."

Bo Wininger, Bigham Lead At Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 9.—Two 28-year-old pros, neither of whom has had any particular success on the golf tournament circuit, forged to the front today at the halfway mark of the $12,500 Pensacola Open.

Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City, Okla., and George Bigham, Kansas City, Mo., tied with five under par 139s after 36 holes. Wininger won the Hot Springs, Ark., meet earlier and is a former champion of the Baton Rouge, La., Open. Bigham is a newcomer to the circuit.

Wininger had a 67 to go with his opening round 72, and Bigham shot a 69, one under his opening day 70.

Black Is Second
Runrunner was young Joe Black, Abilene, Tex., with 71-69-140.

The field was cut to the low 64 pros and 10 amateurs for the final two rounds tomorrow and Sunday. The cutoff was 150 for the pros and 154 for the amateurs.

Hottest rounds of the day were turned in by two more young pros, Dick Masterson, Oakmont, Pa., and Arnold Palmer from Latrobe, Pa., who came home with six under par 66s. Both had been well over par in the opening round, Masterson carding a 77 and Palmer a 78.

Ed Furgul, the 1954 U. S. Open champion, was in a contending position behind the leaders with a 72-69-141. Seven other players were bracketed at that figure.

Jerry Kesselring, Toronto, Can., the opening day leader at 68, blew sky high in the second round and slipped back with a 76 for a 36-hole total of 144.

Tied Tie For 3rd
Fought with Furgul for third place were Ivan Gantz, Indianapolis, Ind.; Don Fairfield, Casey, Ill.; Ernie Bossler, Fort Worth, Tex.; Jay Hebert, Sanford, Fla.; Dow Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Pa.; Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla.; and Buck White, Memphis, Tenn.

Wes Santee's Amateur Life Is Extended
By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK, March 9.—Wes Santee had his amateur life extended at least another week in another legal skirmish today and will run in the Milwaukee Journal games tomorrow night.

Justice Irving L. Levey of the New York State Supreme Court continued an injunction obtained by Santee and set next Thursday for trial of the proceedings.

Third Legal Victory
It marked the third legal victory in eight days for Santee's attorney, Charles P. Grimes, over the Amateur Athletic Union. On Feb. 19, the AAU suspended Santee for life on charges of taking excessive expenses in meets last year. Santee now is a Marine Corps lieutenant.

But last Thursday, Grimes was granted a preliminary injunction by Justice James B. M. McNally of the State Supreme Court barring the AAU from carrying out its suspension. Then on Saturday Justice Charles D. Breitel of the Appellate Division turned down an AAU plea to set aside the injunction.

"I can't any more than my associates pass final judgment," said Justice Levey. "Surely, the AAU must subscribe to a full hearing."

"Even a hardened criminal," which Mr. Santee is not—is entitled to apply for a certificate of reasonable doubt giving him freedom pending appeal."

Most of Grimes' plea concerned the legal aspects of the right of the AAU executive committee to suspend Santee. He maintained it had no authority to act and that if it wished to reopen the case, it should go back to the runner's local district, the Missouri Valley Assn., which cleared him of charges once.

Says Expenses Approved
Grimes did inject one statement that could lead to all sorts of ramifications, though. He told the court that all expenses Santee accepted—he did not say any were excessive as charged—were with the "approval of high—not low—AAU officials."

Leg Work
HARDEST working boy in the camp of the Chicago White Sox at Tampa, Fla., is Johnny Romana, catcher. He's under orders from Manager Marty Marion to shed 20 excess pounds.

Catholic Teams Play Doubleheader Sunday
Catholic Youth Basketball League teams will play a doubleheader Sunday on St. Peter and Paul court.

In the first game at 2 o'clock St. Mary's will meet St. Peter's of Westernport while in the nightcap St. Peter and Paul will be gunning for its 9th straight win of the second half race when it plays host to St. Peter's of Oakland at 3 o'clock.

St. Patrick's invades Keyser Sunday for a game with St. Frances at Potomac State gym at 2:30.

St. Louis Cardinals' Hurler Hospitalized
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 9.—Willard Schmidt, considered the top right-hander on the St. Louis Cardinals pitching staff, was rushed to a hospital today with an intestinal obstruction.

Dr. I. C. Middleman, team physician, said he was hopeful that surgery could be avoided but he said the 26-year-old Schmidt previously had three abdominal operations.

He said a fourth operation would be serious and would keep Schmidt idle indefinitely, possibly for the season.

16 Major League Teams Open Grapefruit-Cactus Scramble
Three New Managers Lead National Clubs
All 16 major league baseball clubs will pair off today in the opening games of the grapefruit-cactus league exhibition scramble, and the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers start right away with a night game at Miami against the Boston Red Sox.

A dozen teams, headed by the American League champion New York Yankees, will start the ball rolling at Florida training sites, while four others swing into action in Arizona.

Most managers will send rookie pitchers to the firing lines for the openers, holding back the proven and more experienced hurlers for later appearances. There also will be a liberal sprinkling of newcomers at the infield and outfield positions as the master minds begin finding out who will stick around, and determine the players slated to go back to the minors for further seasoning.

Three New Managers
In the National League, three new managers will lead their clubs into battle but all of the American League pilots are back for another season. Bill Rigney moved up from Minneapolis to replace Leo Durocher, manager of the New York Giants since the 1948 season, while Bobby Bragan is at the Pittsburgh Pirates helm and Freddie Hutchinson has charge of the St. Louis Cardinals. Bragan, from Hollywood of the Coast League, takes over the Pirates, who finished last under Fred Haney. Hutchinson, former Detroit manager, relieves Harry Walker, who replaced Eddie Stanky at St. Louis during the 1955 season.

Here are the exhibition openers:

READING LESSON

Dr. Standish has had years of experience reading X-Rays like this one. To his trained eyes, each light and shadow means something, and this understanding has given new health and new life to countless persons.

But to most of us, this X-Ray is undecipherable. To understand its message, we would have to take a new kind of reading lesson; we would have to spend long hours at study.

Like the X-Ray, many of life's questions

seem at first glance unanswerable. Indeed, some are beyond man's understanding. But in Church, we can be taught a new way of reading that makes mysteries far greater than that of this X-Ray seem suddenly, miraculously clear.

If you are interested in the meaning of life for yourself and your children, then profit by the teachings of the Church that have stood the test of centuries for millions of people.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

READING LESSON

Dr. Standish has had years of experience reading X-Rays like this one. To his trained eyes, each light and shadow means something, and this understanding has given new health and new life to countless persons.

But to most of us, this X-Ray is undecipherable. To understand its message, we would have to take a new kind of reading lesson; we would have to spend long hours at study.

Like the X-Ray, many of life's questions

seem at first glance unanswerable. Indeed, some are beyond man's understanding. But in Church, we can be taught a new way of reading that makes mysteries far greater than that of this X-Ray seem suddenly, miraculously clear.

If you are interested in the meaning of life for yourself and your children, then profit by the teachings of the Church that have stood the test of centuries for millions of people.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

Changing, Changeless

I have been coming out here off and on for 10 years now, and a great many convulsions have shaken the town in that time—a depression in the movie industry, television, cinema, and with the conspicuous exception of Walt Disney, they were all pretty bad.

It's too early to make any confident predictions but it seems that the second phase is passing and that we are entering a third phase of this reluctant partnership between the movies and television. Instead of giving television the worst of its products, there are signs that films are giving it its best.

Next weekend, for example, there will be two shows that are illustrative of this new trend. One is "Richard III," with Sir Laurence Olivier, which will be shown on NBC in its entirety before it opens in the movie theaters. The event alone is a far, far cry from the 20 or 30-year-old feature pictures, most of them awful, which first started on television. "Richard III" is not only a top-drawer movie but, more importantly, a new movie.

The other event is "High Tor," with Bing Crosby, on CBS Saturday night. This, too, is a picture, but a picture shot entirely for television (though there is some talk about a later release in theaters). This too is a far cry from the old days. It was not shot on an old, abandoned lot with old abandoned movie names. It's a 90-minute, first-rate drama shot on one of Hollywood's best lots with loving care, a first-rate cast, and a fine score by Arthur Schwartz.

There is an old saying that the secret of French cooking is to be better and lots of time. It finally looks at long last as if the movie people in their contributions to television are going to use the best butter and lots of time.

Pictures and television have gone through several relationships. They are now in what I like to think of as the third phase. Originally the movie people wanted to have nothing to do with television, kept their properties off it, and just wished it would go away. Television was a dirty word.

This phase couldn't last forever and eventually the movie people decided to live with television, to use it for their own purposes, to borrow from it. From television, it took the best stories—"Marty," "Patterns," "The Catered Affair"—and some of its brightest stars—Eva Marie Saint, Charlton Heston—and even some of its techniques, especially its mobility and economy.

But while it was borrowing the best of television, its own contributions to television were not so happy. Old movie names who had lost their box office were thrust into shoddy half-hour dramas that were shot in two days almost contemptuously. Television was used for promotion of pictures but again casually and not well. Little bits of film footage from forthcoming pictures were shown on the Ed Sullivan Show. Or there were backstage interviews with Sam Gold-

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

HOLLYWOOD.

I have been coming out here off and on for 10 years now, and a great many convulsions have shaken the town in that time—a depression in the movie industry, television, cinema. Many things have changed, but many things haven't and one of the things that remains conspicuously changeless is the faces.

I bumped into Jack Benny on the CBS set the other day, a face that has been around for some 25 years. "Retire?" he said in answer to a question. "I'll never retire. If I have an hour off in the afternoon, I go out of my mind." And over on the Metro set—another face that has been around for what seems forever—starring in "High Society" was Bing Crosby who in spite of a lot of retirement talk is still the bright fixed star he has been for 20 years.

And there are, of course, many others. But while the faces don't change much, the things they are engaged in have changed a lot. The invasion of television, of course, has a lot to do with the changes. For one thing it has driven the movies to higher ground. You don't find Frank Sinatra—as you did 10 years ago—in silly movies about sailors on shore leave; you find him in "High Society," a much more literate enterprise. The literacy and quality of pictures has, I should say, doubled in the last 10 years, and you can credit TV with much of the improvement.

Pictures and television have gone through several relationships. They are now in what I like to think of as the third phase. Originally the movie people wanted to have nothing to do with television, kept their properties off it, and just wished it would go away. Television was a dirty word.

This phase couldn't last forever and eventually the movie people decided to live with television, to use it for their own purposes, to borrow from it. From television, it took the best stories—"Marty," "Patterns," "The Catered Affair"—and some of its brightest stars—Eva Marie Saint, Charlton Heston—and even some of its techniques, especially its mobility and economy.

But while it was borrowing the best of television, its own contributions to television were not so happy. Old movie names who had lost their box office were thrust into shoddy half-hour dramas that were shot in two days almost contemptuously. Television was used for promotion of pictures but again casually and not well. Little bits of film footage from forthcoming pictures were shown on the Ed Sullivan Show. Or there were backstage interviews with Sam Goldwyn. The movie companies themselves got into TV with their own shows to promote their own pictures, and with the conspicuous exception of Walt Disney, they were all pretty bad.

It's too early to make any confident predictions but it seems that the second phase is passing and that we are entering a third phase of this reluctant partnership between the movies and television. Instead of giving television the worst of its products, there are signs that films are giving it its best.

Next weekend, for example, there will be two shows that are illustrative of this new trend. One is "Richard III" with Sir Laurence Olivier, which will be shown on NBC in its entirety before it opens in the movie theaters. The event alone is a far, far cry from the 20 or 30-year-old feature pictures, most of them awful, which first started on television. "Richard III" is not only a top-drawer movie but, more importantly, a new movie.

The other event is "High Tor," with Bing Crosby, on CBS Saturday night. This, too, is a picture, but a picture shot entirely for television (though there is some talk about a later release in theaters.) This too is a far cry from the old, abandoned lot with old abandoned movie names. It's a 90-minute, first-rate drama shot on one of Hollywood's best lots with loving care, a first-rate cast, and a fine score by Arthur Schwartz.

There is an old saying that the secret of French cooking is to be best butter and lots of time. It finally looks at long last as if the movie people in their contributions to television are going to use the best butter and lots of time.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

ANYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"I DO know exactly where they live. I just don't remember how to get there."

Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert—chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension—helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving. Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend refreshing, delicious Wrigley's Spearmint Gum—for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment.

Finance Plan For Health To Be Explained

Officials Will Hear Details Of Program

The Case plan for the support of public health services in Maryland will go into effect on July 1, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer.

He said the program to finance health programs throughout the state will operate like the equalization fund for education.

Details of the plan will be explained to county and city officials, by Clemens Gaines, chief of the Bureau of Management of the State Health Department, at a dinner meeting Tuesday in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, called by Dr. Frantz.

$140,388 Budget Set

The program calls for a budget of $140,388.23 for the operation of the Health Department in Allegany County during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

State and federal funds will provide $75,516 of the amount, leaving $64,872.23 to be raised by Allegany County and the City of Cumberland.

The Case recommendations were adopted by the General Assembly as a result of a study it instituted several years ago to inquire into the financing of health services in Maryland.

The study disclosed wide variations throughout the state in the sharing of health costs.

For example, the Allegany County Health Department had a budget of $129,765 in 1953. Of this amount, 45.9 per cent was provided by state and federal funds and 54.1 per cent by the city and the county.

Found Wide Variation

In Wicomico County, however, state and federal funds amounted to 85 per cent of a $72,000 budget; Anne Arundel, 75 per cent; Calvert, 80 per cent; Caroline, 77 per cent and Cecil, 76 per cent.

The Case recommendations were designed to equalize the costs of health services and to remove the wide variation in the local contributions for public health services.

One of the things which will have to be worked out at next week's conference is a plan for disbursement of funds.

Under the Case plan, either the state or the county unit will be the disbursing agent.

At present, funds to finance health services in Allegany County are disbursed by the state, county and city.

Flood Account Is Replenished

The proceeds from the sale of the Flood Protection Bonds of 1956 have been deposited by the City of Cumberland.

The deposit of $602,928.99 was made by Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, who with William C. Walsh, a member of the legal firm of Miles, Walsh and Stockbridge, delivered the bonds this week to the New York agent of the Harris Trust and Savings Company of Chicago.

The bonds were sold to the Harris Trust firm on January 30 for an interest rate of 2.53201 per cent.

The flood account was depleted late last year after local costs of the $18,000,000 Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project took all of the $1,500,000 authorized by city and $1,000,000 by the county toward the project.

Dr. Fridinger Heads Dental Society

Dr. William T. Fridinger, this city, was elected this week as new president of the Allegany-Garrett Dental Society, succeeding Dr. Norman L. Barger.

Other officers elected at the society's monthly meeting this week are Dr. John Hohing, Lonaconing, vice president; Dr. Karl W. Kolb, secretary-treasurer, and Dr. William R. Allen, executive board member.

Man Injures Back

A Washington, D. C., resident was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday morning with a back injury sustained while he was lifting tile which is being used in construction work at a local bank. Attaches said that Lewis Green, 40, an employee of the Standard Art, Marble and Tile Company of Washington, was admitted for observation.

Police Get Schooling

Polio Campaign Gets $19,821 In This County

Nearly $20,000 was contributed in the 1956 March of Dimes campaign in Allegany County, according to the final report released yesterday by C. N. Wilkinson, county campaign chairman.

Wilkinson's report shows that $19,821.79 was collected in 19 communities around the county. The total includes funds received in the Mothers' March late in January.

More than half of the total was collected in Cumberland, where Edward Eishner and Victor Hebb were in charge of a campaign which brought in $11,317.30.

Other totals and community chairman:

Frostburg, $2,545.77, Ralph K. Patterson; Lonaconing, $1,197.26, J. Bradley Marshall; Westernport, $771.91, Thomas McGuire; Mt. 'Sabrina Fair' Tickets On Sale At Local Store

Tickets to "Sabrina Fair," a comedy which will be staged here by the Barter Theatre Players of Virginia, are now available at the Jack and Jill Shop, Baltimore Street.

The play will be held March 21 at Allegany High School auditorium. Curtain time will be 8:15 p. m., according to E. F. Mullan Jr., general chairman, who pointed out that tickets may also be purchased from members of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, sponsors of the production.

One-Way Traffic Plan Set Monday

The Police Department has completed plans for reversing the flow of traffic on Dexter Place and Pershing Street Monday morning.

The streets will be made one-way from North George Street to Mechanic Street.

Lt. Raymond R. Johnston, chief of the Traffic Bureau, said new signs are on hand and will be set in place Monday morning.

Brush Fire Checked Along McMullen Hwy.

Local firemen and volunteers from Bowling Green fought a brush fire yesterday afternoon along McMullen Highway just within the city limits.

Firemen from West Side responded and aided the volunteers in checking the blaze which was reported at 1:15 p. m. The firemen were on the scene for about an hour. About one-quarter of an acre was burned.

Smorgasbord Planned

The Blessed Virgin Sodality of St. Patrick's Church will hold a smorgasbord tomorrow from 3 until 6 o'clock at the social center.

Equity Suit Filed

George Robert Blake has filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Helen Alberta Blake.

300 Fowl Perish In Area Blaze

Some 300 chickens perished in a fire Thursday night which destroyed a chicken coop on the farm of Clarence Llewellyn, who resides near Rawlings along McMullen Highway.

Volunteer firemen from Cresaptown responded to the blaze at 10:48 p. m. but were unable to save the building as the flames had a head start and were fanned by brisk winds.

The coop was a one-story frame building measuring about 20 by 30 feet and a wood burning heating unit apparently caused the blaze, as sparks escaping from the stove ignited the floor boards.

Firemen used a booster pump and also pumped water from a nearby creek. A barn full of hay was nearby but did not catch fire, they added.

One member of the fire company said that when they arrived at the scene one side of the building had been destroyed and the flames quickly consumed the rest of the coop.

Responding to the fire were 19 volunteer firemen.

Property Transfers Recorded Here

Several property transactions were recorded yesterday in deeds filed in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Stephen H. Wandless and Mary M. Wandless have sold property on the east side of Bedford Street to William L. Pugh and Betty L. Pugh. Heirs of Howard C. Dixon have sold property on two adjacent lots on the east side of Main Street in Westernport to James E. Kenny and Anna Geraldine Kenny.

Also recorded yesterday were nine right-of-way deeds whereby property owners along Wier's Avenue in LaVale deed land to the county commissioners in hopes that the street will be improved.

WAF Recruiter Here Next Week

S-Sgt. Frieda Kazaras, of the United States Air Force, will be in Cumberland March 1 and 15 to interview young women interested in a career in the WAF. Sgt. James C. Owens, local Air Force recruiter, said a large number of young women, especially among the group who will graduate from high school in June, have been making inquiry about the Air Force.

Sgt. Kazaras, he said, is an experienced WAF and will interview any interested girls and women at the recruiting station on those two days.

Seven Divorces Granted In Court

Seven divorces have been granted in recent weeks in Allegany County Circuit Court.

William E. Crawford obtained a divorce from Hilda B. Crawford. Goldie Ellen Long has been granted a divorce from Jack Morgan Long and the right to resume her maiden name of Goldie Ellen O'Heavner. Regina V. Burkett has obtained a divorce from Oscar E. Burkett and custody of their minor child.

Bottling Firms Sign Contracts With Teamsters

The signing of new working agreements with two local bottling firms was announced yesterday by Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL-CIO).

Joseph F. Garlitz, business agent and organizer for the local, said the contracts were reached with the Nehi Bottling Company and the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company.

The one-year contract with the Nehi Bottling Company provides a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase for plant workers and $2.50 a week for driver-salesmen. It covers six workers and contains a provision for reopening the pact September 1 to discuss health and welfare coverage.

The Pepsi-Cola pact is effective for two years and covers about 14 workers. It provides for a 15-cent-an-hour boost for plant workers this year and payments of $9.75, beginning September 1, for health and welfare coverage. Plant workers will get an additional five cents during the second year and $6.67 payments for a pension plan will begin March 1, 1957, Garlitz said.

The pacts, both effective as of March 1, were signed by George Hollar, for the Nehi firm, and Robert Reinhard, Pepsi-Cola and Garlitz, for the union.

Eagles Memorial Service Planned Sunday Afternoon

The 53d annual memorial service of Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Eagles Home on North Mechanic Street.

An appropriate program, including a memorial pageant, has been arranged, and the public is invited to attend. The oration will be given by Estel C. Kelley, honorary past worthy president and also a member of the Allegany County delegation to the Legislature.

Some 37 former members of the local aerie who died during the past year, as well as 16 servicemen who died in World War II, will be honored during the service.

Railway Probing Phone Wire Theft

Western Maryland Railway Company police are investigating the theft of approximately 800 feet of telephone wire in the Oldtown section, which caused the disruption of communications between here and Hagerstown Thursday.

A spokesman for the railroad said last night company police were in the Oldtown section yesterday afternoon attempting to locate the culprit who climbed a couple of utility poles and snipped the lines.

Communication between the two cities was restored about 11:30 Thursday night, the spokesman added.

To Hold Sale

The Excelsior Class of Grace Methodist Church will hold a rummage sale in the basement of the church, Virginia Avenue and Second Street, March 14 from 1 until 3 p. m.

Fort Ashby High School Senior Named FFA Sweetheart Of South Branch Valley

Miss Darlene Hiett, 17-year-old Fort Ashby High School senior, was chosen the South Branch Valley FFA Federation Sweetheart of 1956 last night at Keyser.

At a sweetheart contest sponsored in conjunction with the Keyser Kiwanis Club annual FFA ham, bacon and egg show and sale, Congressman Harley Staggers presented the honor to Miss Hiett, along with a bouquet of flowers, in the Keyser High School auditorium.

John Fox, assistant coach at Potomac State College, was master of ceremonies. An overflow crowd jammed the auditorium for the beauty revue and watched a panel of judges score 10 South Branch Valley and area high school girls for beauty, personality, stage presence, charm and grace. Each of the 10 contestants

Child Study Conference Opens Monday

Consultant Comes From San Diego

The consultant for the second of two school year Child Study Conferences to be held in Allegany County during the coming week will fly here from San Diego, Calif. to participate in the week-long program, according to Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of county schools.

Dr. Gertrude Wood, the consultant, is connected with the Child Study Institute at the University of Maryland, which conducts workshops of this type in various sections of the country. Dr. Daniel Prescott is director of the institute at College Park.

The principal program for all of the approximately 150 teachers who participate in the child study program here will be a lecture at West Side School from 7:30 until 9 p. m. Monday.

Monday morning the conference will get under way with a meeting of the entire supervisory staff in the Board of Education building from 10 a. m. until noon. That afternoon from 3:15 until 4:45 o'clock the second-year high school group will meet at Beall High School with Wayne W. Hill as leader.

On Tuesday the second-year elementary school group will meet at Central School in Lonaconing from 4 until 5:30 p. m. with Sue T. Dawson as leader. That night from 6:30 until 8 o'clock the same group will have Bernice Winner as leader.

Then from 8 until 9:30 o'clock the third-year elementary group will confer at Beall Elementary School with Ray Skidmore as leader.

Wednesday's activities will include a high school principals' conference at the Board of Education building from 9:30 a. m. until noon and a meeting of the first-year high school group at Valley High School with Jack Petry as leader from 3:30 until 5 p. m.

The third-year high school group will meet at Cresaptown Junior High School from 3:15 until 4:45 p. m. Thursday with Myra M. Neff as leader. Then, the second-year elementary group will confer from 6:30 until 8 p. m. in the Board of Education building with Grace F. England as leader. From 8 until 9:30 p. m. the third-year elementary group will meet with Glennie Shelton as leader.

Finally, the conference will end with an elementary school leaders' conference from 9 until 11:30 a. m. and a summary session for the entire supervisory staff from 1:30 until 2:30 p. m., both at the Board of Education building.

As a part of the publicity campaign for the annual fund drive of Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross, an attractive and historical window display has been arranged at Rosenbaum's Baltimore Street store.

The display shows types of uniforms worn by nurses and women who cared for the less fortunate, ill and infirm down through the ages, covering a span of almost a thousand years.

Shown are uniforms worn by the Sisters of St. John about 1099 A.D.; Order of St. Francis, 1220 A.D.; Sisters of St. Martha of Burgundy, 1450; Sisters of Charity, 1700; "Dark Period" a "Gamp Nurse" about 1750; Kaiserswerth Deaconess, 1850, and a Spanish Probationer of 1900.

The display also shows a number of books on nursing entitled, "A History of Nursing," "The Book of Army Nursing," "The Ballad of the Red Cross," and "History of Clara Barton." A number of pictures are included.

To Hold Sale

The Excelsior Class of Grace Methodist Church will hold a rummage sale in the basement of the church, Virginia Avenue and Second Street, March 14 from 1 until 3 p. m.

Motorists Urged To Destroy Their Old License Tags

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Frank Small Jr. yesterday urged Marylanders who buy new auto license tags to destroy their old ones instead of tossing them out.

Small pointed out that if somebody else uses the discarded tags the result might be embarrassing for the original owner. (In Indianapolis the other day, an 18-year-old art student got six days in jail for repainting last year's Indiana tags with this year's colors and using them.)

Commissioner Small also urged drivers to keep records of their new numbers at home in case their tags are stolen or their registration cards get lost.

County Auditor Will Prepare Maturity Plan

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday voted to request Mrs. Wilbur D. Sills, county auditor, to prepare a schedule of maturities for present bond issues to be used by the law firm of Miles, Walsh and Stockbridge in preparing its opinion on a proposed $500,000 bond issue.

William H. Lemmert, board president, said that he had conferred with William C. Walsh of the law firm about the proposed bond issue, $350,000 of which would go for school construction and $150,000 for nurses' home addition at Memorial Hospital. The county hired the law firm February 3 to prepare the necessary opinion.

Walsh informed the board president that a schedule of maturities would assist the law firm in preparing the new bond issue recommendation so that the new maturities could be scheduled so that the increased tax burden would be as light and as uniform as possible.

Mrs. Edward B. Whisenunt appeared at yesterday's meeting of the commissioners to complain about surface ditches along Cresap Mill Road. Drainage washes over her fields so that they cannot be fertilized until the condition is corrected. Lemmert said that the matter will be referred to County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman to determine the county's responsibility in the matter.

Letters from U.S. Senator John Marshall Butler and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde promising continued support for the proposed C&O Canal parkway project between Hancock and North Branch were received.

License Tag Sale Approaches 5,000

Some 4,802 sets of new Maryland automobile license tags have been sold at the office of Tax Collector J. Wallace Close at the Court House.

Additional sales up until noon today, when the office will be closed for the weekend, are expected to send sales past the 5,000 mark. A year ago yesterday some 5,340 sets of tags had been sold.

The Board of County Commissioners decided yesterday to keep the tax collector's office open during the two holidays scheduled the final week of March as a convenience for automobile owners who must have the new tags by midnight March 31.

The holidays are March 26, the observance of Maryland Day which actually falls on the previous day, Palm Sunday, and Good Friday, which is March 30.

State AFL-CIO Merger Talks Set March 16

Stutzman Is Named To Sub-Committee

Sub-committees appointed to work out plans for merging AFL and CIO councils in Maryland will meet in Baltimore next Friday according to C. E. Stutzman, vice president of the Maryland State and District of Columbia Federation of Labor.

The meeting of the merger committees, he said will be held March 16 at 2 p. m. in the offices of Teamsters Local 355 at 39 South Street, Baltimore.

The call for the merger planning session was issued jointly by Harry Cohen, president of the AFL council, and James E. Patterson, Baltimore, executive secretary of the Maryland Industrial Union Council.

Cohen and Patterson said plans for the merger will be initiated at the meeting.

The committees will make recommendations for a joint meeting of the executive committees of the two organizations.

After the executive committees have approved the mechanics, the plan will be submitted to AFL and CIO conventions for ratification.

Approval of both groups would clear the way for a joint convention, similar to that held last December when the merger of the AFL and the CIO was approved.

The merger of the AFL and CIO organizations would bring some 400,000 union members in Maryland under the AFL-CIO banner.

Pork Is Added To Surplus Food Distribution

An additional surplus food commodity will be included in this month's allotment to the county, Walker Chapman, supervisor of distribution said last night he has announced the schedule for handing out the several items.

Pork and gravy in 29-ounce cans, not previously distributed here, will be added to the usual assignment of butter, cheese, dried milk, lard, flour and cornmeal, Chapman explained.

There are 2,822 families of 8,946 people certified for the March distribution compared to 2,765 families of 8,833 individuals who received surplus food in February.

Distribution will start at Westernport on Monday. Barton will be visited by the trucks Tuesday, Lonaconing on Wednesday, Midland on Thursday

Equity Suit Filed

George Robert Blake has filed an equity suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Helen Alberta Blake.

300 Fowl Perish In Area Blaze

Some 300 chickens perished in a fire Thursday night which destroyed a chicken coop on the farm of Clarence Llewellyn, who resides near Rawlings along McMullen Highway.

Volunteer firemen from Cresaptown responded to the blaze at 10:48 p. m. but were unable to save the building as the flames had a head start and were fanned by brisk winds.

The coop was a one-story frame building measuring about 20 by 30 feet and a wood burning heating unit apparently caused the blaze, as sparks escaping from the stove ignited the floor boards.

Firemen used a booster pump and also pumped water from a nearby creek. A barn full of hay was nearby but did not catch fire, they added.

One member of the fire company said that when they arrived at the scene one side of the building had been destroyed and the flames quickly consumed the rest of the coop.

Responding to the fire were 19 volunteer firemen.

Property Transfers Recorded Here

Several property transactions were recorded yesterday in deeds filed in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Stephen H. Wandless and Mary M. Wandless have sold property on the east side of Bedford Street to William L. Pugh and Betty L. Pugh. Heirs of Howard C. Dixon have sold property on two adjacent lots on the east side of Main Street in Westernport to James E. Kenny and Anna Geraldine Kenny.

Also recorded yesterday were nine right-of-way deeds whereby property owners along Wier's Avenue in LaVale deed land to the county commissioners in hopes that the street will be improved.

WAF Recruiter Here Next Week

S-Sgt. Frieda Kazaras, of the United States Air Force, will be in Cumberland March 11 and 12 to interview young women interested in a career in the WAF. Sgt. James C. Owens, local Air Force recruiter, said a large number of young women, especially among the group who will graduate from high school in June, have been making inquiry about the Air Force.

Sgt. Kazaras, he said, is an experienced WAF and will interview any interested girls and women at the recruiting station on those two days.

Bottling Firms Sign Contracts With Teamsters

The signing of new working agreements with two local bottling firms was announced yesterday by Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL-CIO).

Joseph F. Garlitz, business agent and organizer for the local, said the contracts were reached with the Nehi Bottling Company and the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company.

The one-year contract with the Nehi Bottling Company provides a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase for plant workers and $2.50 a week for driver-salesmen. It covers six workers and contains a provision for reopening the pact September 1 to discuss health and welfare coverage.

The Pepsi-Cola pact is effective for two years and covers about 14 workers. It provides for a 15-cent-an-hour boost for plant workers this year and payments of $9.75, beginning September 1, for health and welfare coverage. Plant workers will get an additional five cents during the second year and $8.67 payments for a pension plan will begin March 1, 1957, Garlitz said.

The pacts, both effective as of March 1, were signed by George Hollar, for the Nehi firm, and Robert Reinhard, Pepsi-Cola and Garlitz, for the union.

Eagles Memorial Service Planned Sunday Afternoon

The 53d annual memorial service of Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Eagles Home on North Mechanic Street.

An appropriate program, including a memorial pageant, has been arranged, and the public is invited to attend. The oration will be given by Estel C. Kelley, honorary past worthy president and also a member of the Allegany County delegation to the Legislature.

Some 37 former members of the local aerie who died during the past year, as well as 16 servicemen who died in World War II, will be honored during the service.

Railway Probing Phone Wire Theft

Western Maryland Railway Company police are investigating the theft of approximately 800 feet of telephone wire in the Oldtown section, which caused the disruption of communications between here and Hagerstown Thursday.

A spokesman for the railroad said last night company police were in the Oldtown section yesterday afternoon attempting to locate the culprit who climbed a couple of utility poles and snipped the lines.

Communication between the two cities was restored about 11:30 Thursday night, the spokesman added.

Fort Ashby High School Senior Named FFA Sweetheart Of South Branch Valley

Miss Darlene Hiett, 17-year-old Fort Ashby High School senior, was chosen the South Branch Valley FFA Federation Sweetheart of 1956 last night at Keyser.

At a sweetheart contest sponsored in conjunction with the Keyser Kiwanis Club annual FFA banquet and egg show and sale, Congressman Harley Staggers presented the honor to Miss Hiett, along with a bouquet of flowers, in the Keyser High School auditorium.

John Fox, assistant coach at Potomac State College, was master of ceremonies.

An overflow crowd jammed the auditorium for the beauty revue and watched a panel of judges score 10 South Branch Valley and area high school girls for beauty, personality, stage presence, charm and grace. Each of the 10 contestants

Child Study Conference Opens Monday

Consultant Comes From San Diego

The consultant for the second of two school year Child Study Conferences to be held in Allegany County during the coming week will fly here from San Diego, Calif. to participate in the week-long program, according to Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of county schools.

Dr. Gertrude Wood, the consultant, is connected with the Child Study Institute at the University of Maryland, which conducts workshops of this type in various sections of the country. Dr. Daniel Prescott is director of the institute at College Park.

The principal program for all of the approximately 150 teachers who participate in the child study program here will be a lecture at West Side School from 7:30 until 9 p. m. Monday.

Monday morning the conference will get under way with a meeting of the entire supervisory staff in the Board of Education building from 10 a. m. until noon. That afternoon from 3:15 until 4:45 o'clock the second-year high school group will meet at Beall High School with Wayne W. Hill as leader.

On Tuesday the second-year elementary school group will meet at Central School in Lonaconing from 4 until 5:30 p. m. with Sue T. Dawson as leader. That night from 6:30 until 8 o'clock the same group will have Bernice Winner as leader. Then from 8 until 9:30 o'clock the third-year elementary group will confer at Beall Elementary School with Ray Skidmore as leader.

Wednesday's activities will include a high school principals' conference at the Board of Education building from 9:30 a. m. until noon and a meeting of the first-year high school group at Valley High School with Jack Petry as leader from 3:30 until 5 p. m.

The third-year high school group will meet at Cresaptown Junior High School from 3:15 until 4:45 p. m. Thursday with Myra M. Nefflen as leader. Then, the second-year elementary group will confer from 6:30 until 8 p. m. in the Board of Education building with Grace F. England as leader. From 8 until 9:30 p. m. the third-year elementary group will meet with Glennie Shelton as leader.

Finally, the conference will end with an elementary school leaders' conference from 9 until 11:30 a. m. and a summary session for the entire supervisory staff from 1:30 until 2:30 p. m., both at the Board of Education building.

As a part of the publicity campaign for the annual fund drive of Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross, an attractive and historical window display has been arranged at Rosenbaum's Baltimore Street store.

The display shows types of uniforms worn by nurses and women who cared for the less fortunate, ill and infirm down through the ages, covering a span of almost a thousand years.

Shown are uniforms worn by the Sisters of St. John about 1099 A.D.; Order of St. Francis, 1220 A.D.; Sisters of St. Martha of Burgundy, 1450; Sisters of Charity, 1700; "Dark Period" a "Gamp Nurse" about 1750; Kaiserswerth Deaconess, 1850, and a Spanish Probatrice of 1900.

The display also shows a number of books on nursing entitled, "A History of Nursing," "The Book of Army Nursing," "The Ballad of the Red Cross," and the "History of Clara Barton." A number of pictures are included.

Dental Society Still Favors Fluoridation Of City Water

Cites Progress In Reducing Tooth Decay

The Allegany-Garrett Dental Society, which some five years ago first advocated fluoridation of the city water supply, still is wholeheartedly in favor of the program which is scheduled to get started here by mid-summer.

Motorists Urged To Destroy Their Old License Tags

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Frank Small Jr. yesterday urged Marylanders who buy new auto license tags to destroy their old ones instead of tossing them out.

Small pointed out that if somebody else uses the discarded tags the result might be embarrassing for the original owner. (In Indianapolis the other day, an 18-year-old art student got six days in jail for repainting last year's Indiana tags with this year's colors and using them.)

Commissioner Small also urged drivers to keep records of their new numbers at home in case their tags are stolen or their registration cards get lost.

County Auditor Will Prepare Maturity Plan

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday voted to request Mrs. Wilbur D. Sills, county auditor, to prepare a schedule of maturities for present bond issues to be used by the law firm of Miles, Walsh and Stockbridge in preparing its opinion on a proposed $500,000 bond issue.

William H. Lemmert, board president, said that he had conferred with William C. Walsh of the law firm about the proposed bond issue, $350,000 of which would go for school construction and $150,000 for nurses' home addition at Memorial Hospital. The county hired the law firm February 3 to prepare the necessary opinion.

Walsh informed the board president that a schedule of maturities would assist the law firm in preparing the new bond issue recommendation so that the new maturities could be scheduled so that the increased tax burden would be as light and as uniform as possible.

Mrs. Edward B. Whisenant appeared at yesterday's meeting of the commissioners to complain about surface ditches along Cresap Mill Road. Drainage washes over her fields so that they cannot be fertilized until the condition is corrected. Lemmert said that the matter will be referred to County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman to determine the county's responsibility in the matter.

Letters from U.S. Senator John Marshall Butler and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde promising continued support for the proposed C&O Canal parkway project between Hancock and North Branch were received.

License Tag Sale Approaches 5,000

Some 4,802 sets of new Maryland automobile license tags have been sold at the office of Tax Collector J. Wallace Close at the Court House.

Additional sales up until noon today, when the office will be closed for the weekend are expected to send sales past the 5,000 mark. A year ago yesterday some 5,340 sets of tags had been sold.

The Board of County Commissioners decided yesterday to keep the tax collector's office open during the two holidays scheduled the final week of March as a convenience for automobile owners who must have the new tags by midnight March 31.

The holidays are March 26, the observance of Maryland Day which actually falls on the previous day, Palm Sunday, and Good Friday, which is March 30.

Scouters To Attend Training Course

A basic scoutmaster's course will open today at 2 p. m. at Camp Potomac under the sponsorship of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Over 30 Scouters are scheduled to attend the weekend course.

county dental group, said the society wishes to clarify its position in view of the fact that a number of pamphlets, most of them of an anonymous nature, have been circulated around town in opposition to the fluoridation of city water.

The Allegany-Garrett Dental Society went on record in favor of fluoridation of city water some time before the Mayor and City Council took action. The fluoridation was authorized by unanimous vote of the Mayor and City Council on a resolution passed December 8, 1952.

Delay Is Necessary

In late January, health authorities from Maryland and Pennsylvania advised the city to delay fluoridation of city water until the current filter modernization program is completed, which at that time was expected to take about six months.

Dr. Fridinger pointed to a 10-year study that was begun in 1945 in two communities of 30,000 population 30 miles apart along the Hudson River in New York. Newburgh added an ounce of fluoride, a white crystalline salt, to every 3.125 gallons of drinking water. Kingston added no fluoride.

The 10-year results provide "irrefutable evidence" that fluoridation of drinking water is safe and effective, according to Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, New York state health commissioner. Children in Newburgh were found to have an overall reduction in tooth decay of 58 per cent as compared with the children in Kingston.

Possibly the most sensitive test for possible "irritative effects of fluoridated water on the kidneys is to measure the quantitative excretion of albumin, red blood cells and casts in the urine, according to Dr. Fridinger. These determinations were made on 100 boys from Newburgh and Kingston. The differences found were not medically significant but actually tended to favor the Newburgh children who had been drinking fluoridated water.

1,100 Communities

Newburgh is not an isolated community. Today more than 22 million people in 1,100 communities are drinking water with fluorides added to bring the level to the recommended proportion of one part per million.

The president of the dental society also cited a quotation concerning the opposition to fluoridation made by Dr. George F. Lull, secretary of the American Medical Association. Dr. Lull said: "There is in the anti-fluoridation camp the anti-vaccinationists, the anti-vivisectionists, the cultists and quacks of all description; in short, everyone who has a grudge against legitimate scientific progress."

"They bring all manner of irresponsible charges, including the allegation that fluoridation is promoted for commercial profit by those who manufacture the chemicals and the machinery, and that responsible scientists and public officials have been 'bought.'"

One of the attempts to confuse the public is an intimation that fluorides added to the water somehow differ from those found naturally in water, the dental society president said. Leading chemists have testified there are no physical or chemical difference between those added in a controlled way and those occurring by chance, except that safety is assured in controlled amounts.

County Attorney Turns Teacher

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the county commissioners, is turning "teacher."

The commissioners yesterday asked Getty to draw up a letter of general information concerning Allegany County and its government. They suggested that a "generous" supply of these letters be mimeographed for future use.

The idea started when the commissioners got a letter yesterday from Sylvia Lebowitz, an eighth grader at University Park, asking for information regarding Allegany County for her use in a course of study at school.

Similar requests have come in the past, so Getty should be prepared to fill the needs of other Maryland school children.

State AFL-CIO Merger Talks Set March 16

Stutzman Is Named To Sub-Committee

Sub-committees appointed to work out plans for merging AFL and CIO councils in Maryland will meet in Baltimore next Friday, according to C. E. Stutzman, vice president of the Maryland State and District of Columbia Federation of Labor.

The meeting of the merger committees, he said, will be held March 16 at 2 p. m. in the offices of Teamsters Local 355 at 39 South Street, Baltimore.

The call for the merger planning session was issued jointly by Harry Cohen, president of the AFL council, and James E. Patterson, Baltimore, executive secretary of the Maryland Industrial Union Council.

Cohen and Patterson said plans for the merger will be initiated at the meeting.

The committees will make recommendations for a joint meeting of the executive committees of the two organizations.

After the executive committees have approved the mechanics, the plan will be submitted to AFL and CIO conventions for ratification.

Approval of both groups would clear the way for a joint convention, similar to that held last December when the merger of the AFL and the CIO was approved.

The merger of the AFL and CIO organizations would bring some 400,000 union members in Maryland under the AFL-CIO banner.

Pork Is Added To Surplus Food Distribution

An additional surplus food commodity will be included in this month's allotment to the county, Walker Chapman, supervisor of distribution said last night he has announced the schedule for handing out the several items.

Pork and gravy in 29-ounce cans, not previously distributed here, will be added to the usual assignment of butter, cheese, dried milk, lard, flour and cornmeal, Chapman explained.

There are 2,822 families of 8,946 people certified for the March distribution compared to 2,765 families of 8,853 individuals who received surplus food in February.

Distribution will start at Westernport on Monday, Barton will be visited by the trucks Tuesday, Lonaconing on Wednesday, Midland on Thursday and Frostburg Friday. Time is from 9 a. m. to noon except at Lonaconing, where distribution will end at 1 p. m., and at Frostburg where closing time is 2 p. m.

The following week, trucks will be at Clarysville on March 19; at Mt. Savage, March 20; at Cresaptown, March 21, and at Cumberland, March 22 and 13. Time everywhere
